Reds Challenged To Give A-Test Alerts

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower's announcement that the Soviet Union has resumed nuclear weapons tests—possibly including a hydrogen blast—stood today as a challenge to Russia to publicize such tests in advance to reduce danger.

Besides the challenge to strip away the secrecy, the announcement at the President's vacation headquarters Sunday also was seen as a move to counteract recent Russian propaganda suggesting this country's tests of such weapons amount to a threat to world peace. Eisenhower made public an Atomic Energy Commission report advising him that last Friday the Soviet Union declared 'a nuclear device with a yield less than a megaton.' A nuclear blast would have force equivalent to one million tons of TNT.

And the White House amplifying the commission report, said the latest Russian explosion was 'almost' of that caliber—much smaller than the biggest blast so far touched off by the United States. That blast at Bikini in 1954 is generally thought to have had a force of 15 to 17 megatons, while this year's hydrogen bomb test in the Pacific has been officially estimated to have had the force of 10 million tons of TNT, or 10 megatons.

In announcing Soviet resumption of tests, Eisenhower said in a statement he wanted to emphasize again 'the necessity for effective international control of atomic energy and such measures of adequately safeguarded disarmament as are now feasible.' He added: 'This is a goal which the United States has consistently sought and which has received the support of a large majority of the members of the U.N.'

The report Eisenhower made public also officially made known for the first time the site of the Russian proving grounds. The report to Eisenhower by AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss said: 'This proving ground, where most of the Soviet tests have occurred, is located in southwest Siberia, north of India, Afghanistan, and Pakistan, and west of China. The Soviets have also utilized the area of the Barents Sea—part of the Arctic Ocean—for nuclear testing.'

It pointed out that under the Soviet policy of secrecy about such tests, adjacent areas get no advance warning of radioactive 'fallout' danger. Strauss noted, on the other hand, that U.S. tests always have been announced well in advance and that newsmen—both American and foreign—sometimes have been permitted to watch and report the tests.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, indicated the latest Russian explosion involved a hydrogen weapon. 'This was the 13th announcement by the United States of nuclear explosions by the Soviet Union, but Strauss said the actual number of Russian detonations has been 'significantly higher' than 13.

Joseph Londrigan, an attorney for Hintz, said a motion would be made for change of venue on the ground that an impartial jury could not be obtained in Sangamon County Circuit Court.

'We feel he has already been tried and convicted in the mind of the public of Sangamon County because of his association with Hodge,' Londrigan said.

He said that since Hintz would begin serving a three-year federal prison term Friday in connection with the Hodge case, that bond should be no larger than $5,000.

Ezio Pinza's Career in Doubt After Mild-Stroke in Italy

CERVIA, Italy (AP)—Singer Ezio Pinza has suffered a slight paralytic stroke and canceled his contract to appear in a new Broadway play. But his wife indicates he hopes to be able to return to the stage.

The 64-year-old operatic basso and musical comedy star is under the care of physicians at his summer villa in this seaside resort, 15 miles from his childhood home—Ravenna.

He was reported resting comfortably and able to sit in an armchair. His wife said Pinza 'suffered no permanent injury' from the attack Friday and there was 'no reason to say he will not be able to work again.'

Pinza, who starred in the hit musical comedies 'South Pacific' and 'Fanny' after a long career in opera, had been scheduled to begin rehearsals for his first non-singing role in 'A Very Special Baby' Sept. 17 in New York.

Mrs. Pinza said Pinza's doctors yet did not know when he will be able to return to the stage, but she called the stroke 'a light one.'

The star's attorney in New York Harold H. Stern, said Mrs. Pinza had advised him one of her husband's legs was partially paralyzed.

Mrs. Pinza, the former Doris Leak of Larchmont, N.Y., said her husband had been 'very tired.' The family came to Italy in June. Pinza joined New York's Metropolitan Opera Co. in 1926, winning critical acclaim and a big following for his rich basso and acting ability. For two decades he was a leading member also of the

Hintz, Epping Say Innocent In Scandal

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Pleas of innocent were made today by two former associates of Orville E. Hodge, who were accused of conspiring with the resigned state auditor in the million dollar state check scandal.

Edward A. Hintz, 68, former Chicago banker, entered his plea on charges he conspired with Hodge by allegedly cashing forged state checks.

Edward A. Epping, Hodge's office manager, pleaded innocent to the same charges that sent Hodge to Menard penitentiary a week ago. They are conspiracy, embezzlement, confidence game and forgery.

Joseph Londrigan, an attorney for Hintz, said a motion would be made for change of venue on the ground that an impartial jury could not be obtained in Sangamon County Circuit Court.

Tragedies Bring 22 Ohio Deaths Over Weekend

Six Lose Lives in Three Separate Rooming House Fires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Three separate fires—all in rooming houses—accounted for six of the 22 accidental deaths in Ohio over the weekend. Ten were traffic fatalities.

One Cleveland blaze suffocated three men. Another fire in that city burned to death another man. A fire in Lorain killed a man and a woman.

The weekend toll, recorded in an Associated Press survey from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday, had its share of freak fatal accidents.

In one, a young Cleveland mother and her two small sons drowned when one boy fell into a river, the woman reached out for him and fell in herself, and the other son jumped in to save her.

A Barberton man tried to convince his wife that the waters of a lake were not over her head. He jumped off a pier and never came up.

A hunting accident in Champaign county killed a Columbus man. He was shot by a friend who fired his rifle at what he thought was a groundhog.

THE LIST OF fatalities:
Friday night:
Arlee Leak, 40, Cuyahoga Heights, thrown through the roof of a convertible and off a 70-foot-high bridge when the auto hit the bridge in that Cleveland suburb.

Mrs. Ada Whitley Sommers, 60, Greenfield, when her car left Ohio 70, four miles north of Jeffersonville (Fayette County).

Saturday:
James Lambert, 35, Columbus, accidentally shot by a friend while hunting groundhogs near North Lewisburg.

William Cooper, 51, Barberton, drowned in Miller Lake near Barberton when he jumped off a pier to show his wife the water was not over her head.

Mrs. Viola Tinker, 26, her sons, Ned Jr., 7, and Larry, 6, Cleveland, drowned in the Chagrin River at Bentleyville (Cuyahoga County) when the younger boy fell in the water, the mother fell in trying to reach out for him and the older son jumped in to save his mother.

Albert Rabel, 34, Mansfield, after his car collided with a truck about six miles north of Mansfield on U. S. 42.

STANLEY SPURGEON Jr., 23, Cincinnati, thrown from his car which sideswiped a truck and the auto rolled over him, on Ohio 74 near Cincinnati.

William Jenkins, 32, Dayton, drowned in the Stillwater River, five miles west of Troy, when his fishing boat capsized.

William Lambert, 26, Morrow, when his car overturned on a road near that Warren County town.

Sunday:
Paul Freelan, about 40, Wilbur C. Wright, 38, and Richard Hasenstab, 44, suffocated in a fire at a Cleveland rooming house where they lived.

Ignatz Smarkutsky, 66, burned to death in another Cleveland rooming house fire.

VICTOR EUGENE Haight, 29, Waynesburg, struck by an auto west of Massillon on U. S. 30.

Mrs. Nellie May Lewis, 73, Springfield, in a two-car crash in the city.

Albert T. Gruber, 18, Paris, struck by an auto while riding a bicycle about two miles east of East Canton.

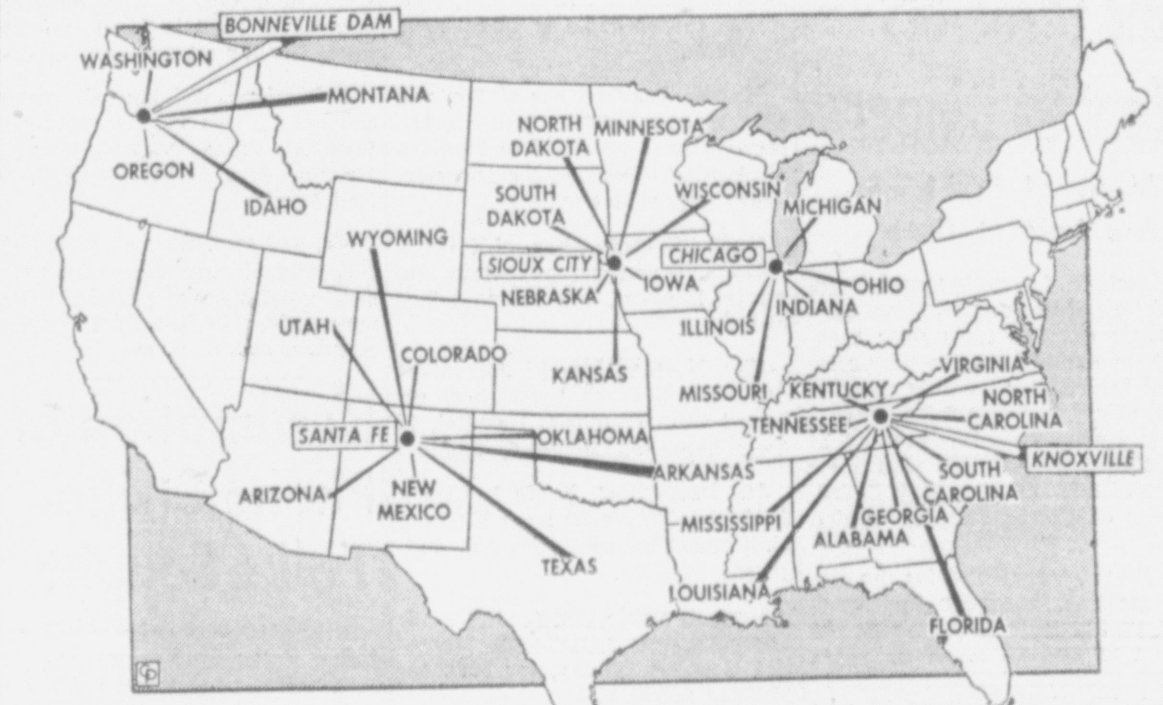

Richard C. Beidler, about 23, Upper Sandusky, in a three-car accident on Ohio 81 about 3½ miles east of Dunkirk (Hardin County).

Mary Lee Holloway, 42, and Harold Howe, 29, Elyria, suffocated in a fire at a rooming house where the woman lived near Lorain.

Ignatius Shaffer, 64, Cleveland, struck by a car near his home.

Election Campaign Taking To Air

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The 1956 election campaign, flight-tested at conventions during the last two weeks, became airborne today as candidates of the two major parties flew in opposite directions across the nation.

Democratic nominees Adlai E. Stevenson and Estes Kefauver headed toward Santa Fe, N. M., for the first of a series of daily meetings with party leaders that will take them to Vancouver, Wash., Sioux City, Iowa and Knoxville, Tenn., before they return to Chicago Friday.

Vice President Nixon, renominated by the Republicans, flew from his Whittier, Calif., home to Washington for a series of conferences on the Republican campaign in which he will take an active role.

Nixon said on leaving Los Angeles that his father, Frank A. Nixon 77, ill in Whittier, Calif., was 'holding his own better than expected but the doctor would give no prediction for the future.'

THE 29 MEMBER executive council of the AFL-CIO started meeting today in the Pocono Mountains of Pennsylvania to decide whether to endorse the Democratic ticket or avoid an outright commitment.

As members started their review of the slates, there appeared strong sentiment for renewing labor's 1952 outright endorsement, but some opposed taking a formal stand.

All four top candidates went to church Sunday.

Hagerty said in an interview in San Francisco that he didn't consider Eisenhower's physical condition a bar to an active campaign.

'I would say he is no longer a convalescent' from his June 9 intestinal operation, Hagerty said. But he declined to give any details of the part Eisenhower will play in the campaign beyond saying his first major political speech probably won't be made 'until the middle of September.'

Fayette County Commissioners appointed a committee to investigate proper lighting and marking of the famous 'destined murals' which decorate the corridor walls of the Courthouse.

The action was taken after it was discovered last week that, in all probability, one of the nation's greatest artists, Archibald M. Willard, formerly of Cleveland, painted the noteworthy pictures. Willard painted the famous 'Spirit of '76.'

The committee was named upon motion of Commissioner Clifford Hughes, and consists of Ralph Minton, president of the Board of County Commissioners; Judge John P. Case, of Common Pleas Court, and B. E. Kelley, Secretary of the Fayette County Historical Society. The first meeting of the committee was held Monday afternoon.

The committee is empowered to make recommendations as to proper lighting and marking of the murals.

ACTION of the board was taken after Kelley appeared before the board and requested upon behalf of the Historical Society that lighting and marking of the murals be arranged.

The commissioners viewed the paintings under the present lighting system, heard further explanation as to the value and importance of the art and the probability that a great many people from through-

Teller Charged In Bank Thefts

Customer's Account Is Short $21,000

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (AP)—A 27-year-old bank teller and parttime minister charged with illegally drawing $21,000 from a customer's bank account is quoted by arresting officers as declaring he spent it on his family and to help a few friends in need.

Robert Dudge, of nearby Mount Morris, was held without bail following his weekend arrest on a charge of fraudulent pretense filed by Ray Fisher, a Mount Morris service station operator.

Dudge was employed by the First National Bank of Morgantown, W. Va. Fisher claims Dudge tapped his account several times and that it now is short $21,000.

Justice of the Peace Earl H. Fulton said Dudge admitted taking some money and declared: 'I don't know how it happened. I was handling so much money in the bank. I was one man there—then, when I go home, I was another.'

SHERIFF THOMAS Boyd said Dudge told him he didn't spend the money on 'wine, women or song.' The sheriff said Dudge added: 'I gave some of it to people I knew needed it badly. I always figured I'd pay it back. I spent some money on improving our home.'

Dudge is married and has a 4-year-old child. His wife, who is expecting, has a six-year-old child by a previous marriage.

Boyd said Dudge told him he took the money 'little by little' in the past two years. He was employed by the bank about 2½ years ago.

Dudge, a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, has been an assistant pastor at a Morgantown Methodist Church. Prior to his bank employment he served three small churches in this area as a regular pastor.

5-Nation Parley Committee Still Awaiting Word

Military Convoys Jam Coastal Roads As British Birds

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt will reply Tuesday to the Menzies committee request for talks on the Suez Canal crisis, an official Egyptian source said today.

President Nasser is expected to agree to meet with Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies' five-nation committee, selected last week by the London Suez conference to present an 18-nation plan for international control.

Usually reliable sources said they understood Nasser will agree to meet the committee in Cairo with the proviso that Egypt is not obligated to accept the plan.

Menzies stood by in London awaiting the reply. The message had been expected today, since sources in Cairo said it was transmitted to the Egyptian embassy in London Sunday.

Egypt's reply was framed after Nasser had a special meeting with his cabinet Sunday.

MENZIES WAS appointed by the London Suez conference last week to head a five-nation committee to present to Nasser the plan for an international authority to operate the canal. The plan, proposed by the United States, was endorsed by 17 of the other 21 nations at the conference.

Informants said Nasser would receive Menzies and his committee in Cairo, but would insist that the entire Suez problem be discussed, not just the majority plan. India at the conference proposed that an international board be empowered only to advise Egypt in running the canal.

Earlier reports said Nasser would propose a series of individual or collective treaties between Egypt and the nations using the canal guaranteeing traffic through the waterway from interference.

In the face of steady preparations by Britain and France for military action if negotiations fail to produce a peaceful solution, Nasser appeared to be bending his efforts to hanging onto the 103-mile waterway—which he seized for the Egyptian government July 26—without getting into a war.

He appeared willing to examine all possible solutions which would not involve what he considers a surrender of Egyptian sovereignty.

THERE WAS a growing feeling among Egyptian officials and the public that Britain and France were not bluffing about the possible use of force.

A London report said roads leading to the embarkation port of Southampton were jammed with convoys of military vehicles painted a desert yellow. Four freighters at the port were being loaded with ammunition and military equipment.

Experienced diplomats in Moscow, however, said they believed the Soviet government feels there is little chance the West will start a shooting war over the Suez.

Britain and France have charged that Nasser's long-handed control of the canal imperils Western Europe's lifelines, particularly the flow of Middle East oil.

The Suez Canal Co., the private, internationally owned company that operated the canal until Nasser seized it, charged in a statement issued in London and Paris that interference by Egyptian officials, dismissals and police snooping was disrupting morale, particularly of the expert foreign pilots who guide ships through the waterway.

The canal employs about 200 pilots, half of them from England and France.

I never go to Philadelphia, "City of Brotherly Love," without paying a visit to Independence Hall and viewing the famous Liberty Bell.

It is one of the most sacred shrines in America, and one which never fails to attract large numbers of visitors.

A few days ago I again visited the Liberty Bell, and for the first time I was privileged to place my hand upon it, for it is guarded very jealously by attendants who are always on the job to see that no one molests it.

As everyone knows, whether they have seen the historic bell or not, a crack extends from the edge to well up into the main part of the bell, probably more than two feet in length.

Years ago some bright persons decided that by drilling away the metal a half inch or more along the crack, and placing bolts at the top and bottom of the fissure, the bell would ring without the tone being marred by the crack.

You can guess that cutting away the metal greatly lessened the tone of the bell, and the effort was a miserable failure. But the half-inch fissure some two feet in length, with the bolts attached, remains.

Incidentally they are now removing the paint from the outer woodwork of Independence Hall, and found 40 coats of old paint, I was told.

They unanimously agreed that they should be given attention.

In making application for proper lighting of the murals, suggestion was also made that a bronze plaque be erected on the walls, and possibly an attractive sign placed on the Courthouse lawn calling attention to the murals as inside.

Officials of the Historical Society are making research in connection with the murals, and the Ohio Historical Society is expected to have representative here this week, to view the paintings.

County Highway Safety-Stripping Plan Considered

Commissioners See Work as Part of Long-Range Program

A plan for yellow safety-stripes on all dangerous curves and hills on Fayette County two-lane highways is now under consideration by the Fayette County commissioners.

Attorney F. Scott Zimmerman was before the county board at its regular meeting in the Court House Monday, to renew a plea for such a program. He met with commissioners about a year ago on this matter.

ZIMMERMAN was advised by the board members that they had been giving serious thought to this improvement project and had arranged recently with the county engineer to put in safety-stripes at a few spots. Because of the cost this will have to be handled as a part of a long-range county highway safety program, the commissioners explained, but it will be followed up by the county engineer highway crew as rapidly as finances permit. It will start where there are dangerous curves or hills on which stripes would become a safety factor especially in night driving.

County Engineer Wagner will be asked by the commissioners to make a survey of what is needed as soon as possible, the board indicated. Later more complete safety stripe work will be carried out.

RESOLUTIONS were passed Monday by the commissioners to authorize improvements on two more county roads. These were the Camp Grove Rd., from the Robinson Rd. to a point 2 1/2 miles north, to be given a prime and seal resurfacing coat and Limes Rd., for a distance of approximately 2 1/4 miles between the Greenfield-Salina Rd. and the Highland County line, to be resurfaced by a blade mix and seal operation.

County Auditor Harry Allen, clerk of the board, was asked by the commissioners to get into touch with the Springfield firm which did the roofing job on the Courthouse a few years ago, to advise that a few small leaks had developed in the roof and to ask that immediate repairs be made.

Only other matters before the board Monday were routine including approval of bills.

4-H Judging Teams Compete at Fair

Fayette County's two 4-H judging teams placed eighth and ninth in their respective classes competitions at the State Fair Friday.

Some 50 teams were represented in each class.

The general livestock team placed eighth with a score of 1231. Ottawa County's team took the top honors with a score of 1456.

The general livestock team members were Robert Montgomery, Roger Yeoman and Joan Bonham.

The beef judging team placed ninth in its class with a score of 976. The Marion County team won with 1023 points.

The beef team members were Cindy Schlichter, Pat Scott and Barbara Sue Kneisley.

Fair Directors Meet at Dinner

Many of Problems Are Left at Gate

Directors of Fayette County's annual Fair shed some—but not all—of their usual worries over planning the exposition when they combined the regular monthly meeting of the board with their annual steak dinner Saturday evening at the El-Ray Corral, the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Brandenburg on Cowan Lake in Clinton County.

Brandenburg, co-host for the dinner meeting, has been the president of the Fair Board since the Fair was revived about 20 years ago.

With the directors were their wives and several additional guests.

Aside from the brief business meeting, the evening was devoted largely to sociable visiting. But, during that short session—and during much of the informal talk—broad outlines for next year's Fair were among the topics of conversation.

At the affair were directors and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Brandenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Sollars, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nisley, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Steen, Mr. and Mrs. John Sagar, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Sam B. Marting, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Denton, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dreisbach and Mr. and Mrs. Mac Dews Sr.

The guests were County Agent W. W. Montgomery; Director-elect Richard Babb and Mrs. Babb; the three county commissioners and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Minton, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cockerill; County Engineer and Mrs. Charles Wagner and Fred Rost, chairman of the ticket committee, and Mrs. Rost.

Mrs. Abie Anders Dies in Staunton

Mrs. Abie Anders, 79, died at 5:15 a. m. Monday at her home in Staunton. She had been in failing health for several years.

Although a native of Highland County, she had spent most of her life in the Buena Vista and Staunton communities in Fayette County.

She is survived by her husband, John L. Anders, 91; two daughters, Mrs. Bertha Tolle of near Xenia and Mrs. Dorothy Shields of Staunton; six grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Ada Puckett of Leesburg and four brothers, Dawson Washburn of Leesburg, Charles Washburn of Chicago, Robert Washburn of Clarksville and Forest Washburn of Greenfield.

Funeral services are to be conducted in the Staunton Methodist Church at 10 a. m. Thursday by the Rev. Herbert Ricketts, pastor of the church, and the Rev. Charles Ware, pastor of the Gregg St. Church of Christ in Christian Union here.

Burial is to be in the White Oak Church Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Parrett Funeral Home after 6 p. m. Monday.

Virginia Gets Segregation Plan

Bonuses Proposed To Keep Color Line

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Gov. Thomas B. Stanley today handed the Virginia General Assembly his plan to prevent a breakthrough in the school segregation line by cutting off state money from any locality that may seek to buck the system.

With two Virginia localities—Charlottesville and Arlington—already under federal court orders to begin desegregation this coming term and next, Stanley called for adoption of a program aimed at giving counties, cities and towns the choice of continued racial separation in the schools or no state-supported public schools at all.

"There should be no reason to close any school in Virginia under this legislation," Stanley told the opening joint House and Senate meeting of the special school session.

"If any school is closed, it will be because a person, or persons, of one race seeks to force his way into a school in which the opposite race is taught."

Thus, Stanley called for adoption of a plan that could mean "voluntary segregation" with state school money as a sort of "bonus" for volunteers.

THE STANLEY plan, approved 19 to 12 by a special school study commission made up of legislators, was introduced in both House and Senate in a package of 13 bills.

And the legislators, divided on whether the state money weapon is the best artillery to defend the administration's stand pat policy on segregation, were called to their task by these words of the governor:

"The people of Virginia and their elected representatives are confronted with the gravest problems since 1865."

The key proposal in the legislative package is the one amending the general appropriations act to cut off state school money—roughly a third of average total operating costs—from localities where Negro and white children are taught in the same schools.

One Dead After Hospital Attack

CAMBRIDGE (AP)—A patient at Cambridge State Hospital died Sunday of injuries suffered when he was attacked by another patient, Dr. Arthur T. Hopwood, superintendent, said.

The dead man was Bergilio Santacatarina, committed from Belmont County, who Hopwood said was struck with a bedside stand Sunday by William Vair, Guernsey County Sheriff. For-est Warden said no charges would be filed.

Florida Arrests Boycott Leader

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Rev. C. K. Steele, president of the Inter Civic Council, today was arrested by police on a charge of operating a Negro car pool automobile without a "for hire" tag. The Inter Civic Council is sponsoring the boycott of Tallahassee buses by Negro riders in protest against segregated seating.

Zoning Board For Union Twp. Holds Meeting

Several petitions asking rezoning for non-conforming businesses were considered by the Union Township Zoning Board of Appeals at its first official public hearing Saturday night in the Township House on Devalon Rd.

These petitions were described as "routine," but there were several persons at the meeting to get first-hand information on matters that are scheduled to come before the board soon.

One of the questions was: "Does a party (residence) in a commercial zone have any protection from businesses crowding in on either side?"

The board's answer was: "Those in a commercial zone can appeal for rezoning to residential classification just the same as those in a residential area may appeal for rezoning to a commercial area."

The chairman also explained that "the board will protect the resident in a commercial zone to the extent of 200 feet from the lot line if the parties affected appeal for this action."

The next meeting and public hearing was set for next Saturday at 7:30 p. m. when the petition of the Fuels heirs for rezoning of the tract for a new Du Pont plant probably will be taken up.

A permit was issued last week to Pennington Bread, Inc., to extend its present building which is now beginning to take form in the reconstruction program following the fire that gutted the big bakery on June 9.

THE STANLEY plan, approved 19 to 12 by a special school study commission made up of legislators, was introduced in both House and Senate in a package of 13 bills.

And the legislators, divided on whether the state money weapon is the best artillery to defend the administration's stand pat policy on segregation, were called to their task by these words of the governor:

"The people of Virginia and their elected representatives are confronted with the gravest problems since 1865."

The key proposal in the legislative package is the one amending the general appropriations act to cut off state school money—roughly a third of average total operating costs—from localities where Negro and white children are taught in the same schools.

Meanwhile, the company reported at least 500 telephones in this area were dead today as a result of cables cut Sunday. The union has denied any knowledge of such cable cutting.

Some 24 southern and southeastern Ohio counties are affected by the strike. Supervisory personnel are manning the exchanges.

A company spokesman said the workmen were sent to the West Portsmouth area this morning to make repairs needed because of the cut cables, and several of them by union sympathizers.

Richard N. Cole, vice president of the company said acts of vandalism are continuing despite a court injunction and the fact some 20 union members have been cited for violating the injunction.

Virginia Gets Segregation Plan

Bonuses Proposed To Keep Color Line

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Gov. Thomas B. Stanley today handed the Virginia General Assembly his plan to prevent a breakthrough in the school segregation line by cutting off state money from any locality that may seek to buck the system.

With two Virginia localities—Charlottesville and Arlington—already under federal court orders to begin desegregation this coming term and next, Stanley called for adoption of a program aimed at giving counties, cities and towns the choice of continued racial separation in the schools or no state-supported public schools at all.

"There should be no reason to close any school in Virginia under this legislation," Stanley told the opening joint House and Senate meeting of the special school session.

"If any school is closed, it will be because a person, or persons, of one race seeks to force his way into a school in which the opposite race is taught."

Thus, Stanley called for adoption of a plan that could mean "voluntary segregation" with state school money as a sort of "bonus" for volunteers.

THE STANLEY plan, approved 19 to 12 by a special school study commission made up of legislators, was introduced in both House and Senate in a package of 13 bills.

Zoning Board For Union Twp. Holds Meeting

Several petitions asking rezoning for non-conforming businesses were considered by the Union Township Zoning Board of Appeals at its first official public hearing Saturday night in the Township House on Devalon Rd.

These petitions were described as "routine," but there were several persons at the meeting to get first-hand information on matters that are scheduled to come before the board soon.

One of the questions was: "Does a party (residence) in a commercial zone have any protection from businesses crowding in on either side?"

The board's answer was: "Those in a commercial zone can appeal for rezoning to residential classification just the same as those in a residential area may appeal for rezoning to a commercial area."

The chairman also explained that "the board will protect the resident in a commercial zone to the extent of 200 feet from the lot line if the parties affected appeal for this action."

The next meeting and public hearing was set for next Saturday at 7:30 p. m. when the petition of the Fults heirs for rezoning of the tract for a new Du Pont plant probably will be taken up.

A permit was issued last week to Pennington Bread, Inc., to extend its present building which is now beginning to take form in the reconstruction program following the fire that gutted the big bakery on June 9.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A revised estimate of government income and spending, due this week, is expected to forecast a budget surplus next June 30 of "something under a billion dollars."

That estimate, from an administration source, would be double the 35 million dollars surplus President Eisenhower forecast in his budget message to Congress last January, but little more than half the $1,754,357,066 actual surplus recorded for the year ended June 30, 1956.

Portsmouth Plant Slowed; Workers Stay at Home

PORTSMOUTH (AP) — Production at Detroit Steel Corp.'s plant at nearby New Boston was virtually halted today as an estimated 4,000 workers failed to report for work.

Glen Lewis, president of Local 2118, United Steelworkers, called the strike unauthorized and has asked the men to return since the walkout began Thursday.

Lewis said cause of the strike apparently is incentive pay in the brick mason helpers department and the yard and transportation department.

Only 400 workers are in the two departments, he said, but their walkout affected at least 3,600 other workers. The plant employs about 4,300.

H. E. Baughman, general manager of the plant, said an additional 200 workers employed in construction of new facilities at the plant also failed to report for work today in an apparent sympathy strike.

Fayette County Voters To Get 5 Separate Ballots

Question and Issue Form, Non-Partisan Ticket Included

Every elector who enters a voting booth in Fayette County at the Nov. 6 general election will be handed five ballots.

First will be the presidential ballot which will have printed thereon the names of the candidates for president and vice president, with the name of the political party he represents below the name of each candidate.

The Ohio Legislature, through amendment of the statutes, has directed the secretary of state to omit the names of the presidential electors from the ballot and has provided that a vote cast for the candidates for president and vice president of a political party shall be a vote for the electors of that party by which such candidates were nominated, and whose names have been certified to the secretary of state.

The names of the candidates for president and vice president of each party will be enclosed with a black line forming a box. These two rectangles will be rotated in such order on the ballot that when the ballots are combined into tablets, for use at the polling place, no two consecutive ballots in a tablet shall have the spaces in the same order.

Another type of ballot which all Ohio voters will receive is known as the "Office Type" ballot which will contain the names of candidates of Republican and Democratic parties for state, district and county offices, including U. S. senator, congressman and state senator, with the name of their party under the candidates. These ballots will undergo the same process of rotating as the presidential ballot.

Another type of ballot to be given each voter is titled "Non-Partisan Ballot". This ballot will contain the names of all candidates for election to judicial offices. This year Ohio is electing a chief justice of the Supreme Court, and two judges of the Supreme Court, in addition to one judge of the Court of Appeals in this appellate district, also the judge of the Common Pleas Court in Fayette County.

STILL ANOTHER ballot will be known as the "Question and Issue Ballot". This will be of special interest because such ballots will provide for voting the school bond issue for $645,000, which will be presented only on this ballot to voters in the Washington School District. Voters of the Miami Trace School District will receive on their question and issue ballot the proposal for the school bond issue in that district for $1,632,500.

Voters of Union Township, on this same ballot will have the opportunity to vote on an $8,000 bond issue to pay the township's share for real estate and certain other improvements for Union's cemetery established jointly with Washington C. H. in what is known as the Washington Cemetery.

Green Township also has an issue for its voters on this ballot in the form of a .5 mill special levy to provide fire protection.

TWO COUNTY WIDE levies also will be up for approval. One provides for renewal of a .25 of a mill levy as Fayette County's share in the maintenance of Mt. Logan Sanatorium at Chillicothe which is supported by six Ohio counties with some financial aid from the state.

The other will be for renewal of the .2 of a mill levy for the Fayette County Health Department.

A ballot carrying two proposed constitutional amendments, as directed by the last Ohio General Assembly, is another which each Fayette County voter will receive.

THE FIRST of these amendments is to authorize the issuance of bonds up to $90,000,000. The proceeds of the fund created by the sale of these bonds would be used to pay a bonus to Ohio residents who served in the armed forces of the United States in the Korean conflict, or to certain of their survivors. The maximum amount of compensation payable under this proposed amendment is $400.

The second constitutional amendment provides that the term of office of members of the Ohio Senate shall be four years. If this amendment is adopted by a majority vote of the electors, it will not affect the terms of Senators who take office prior to Jan. 1, 1956.

Freedom Near, Trago Looking Forward To Campaign in Fall

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—David L. Trago, former Jackson County sheriff, is scheduled for release from the Gallia County jail here next Thursday after serving a full year's sentence on a morals charge.

And the former official says he is ready to begin waging his campaign for re-election to the sheriff's office in the Nov. 6 election.

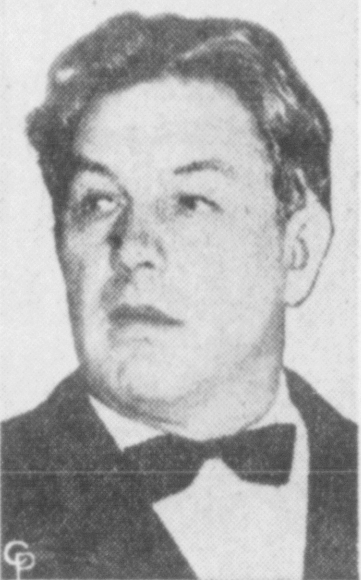

Only roadblock to Trago's expected freedom is payment of a $1,000 fine and court costs of about $1,800, part of the sentence given him on Aug. 30 last year. At that time a juvenile court jury found him guilty, after about four weeks of trial, of making immoral advances to a young Air Force recruit.

Trago is confident the money for his fine and costs will be ready for payment to the court to assure his release next Thursday. Otherwise he could face some two years and eight months more in jail, serving out the fine and costs at the rate of $3 per day.

There have been reports that Trago's friends have raised the money for the payment of the fine and costs, and to finance his campaign for re-election in Jackson County in November.

Even while he was in jail here, Trago scored a sweeping victory in the Democratic primary ballot last May. He was ousted as sheriff by Jackson County commissioners last December for being absent from his duties for a period of 90 days.

In the primary election, Trago gathered 1,688 votes, more than the combined total of his opponents, Arthur Bishop with 698 and Sam Womeldorf with 376, both former deputies in his office. John Evans, appointed to the sheriff's office, won the Republican nomination with 4,063 votes.

Ohio Politicos Get Only Brief Breather

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio gets only a breather between the national and state political conventions.

Democrats hold their state convention Sept. 8 in Columbus' big new Memorial Hall. Republicans convene Sept. 12 in the RKP Palace Theater here.

Democrats expect to have presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson as the star of their show. Party leaders express high hopes of winning approval from National Chairman Paul Butler for Stevenson's appearance.

A major address by Stevenson so soon after his renomination in Chicago last week would point up the importance of Ohio as a battleground in the Nov. 6 election, they explained.

Ohio Democrats assert Stevenson will put punch into their drive to retain the governorship, capture a U. S. Senate seat and win more congressional posts.

Republicans are assured of a major address at their convention by Sen. William F. Knowland of California, U. S. Senate majority leader. Knowland, temporary chairman of the National GOP Convention ended this week, drew applause for his praise of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft as a "great Republican and American statesman."

Say Appeasement Raised Canal Tiff

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. Zionist leaders say Egyptian seizure of the Suez Canal Company was the "inevitable outcome" of what they call U. S. State Department appeasement of the Arab states.

At the same time the Zionists passed a resolution urging President Eisenhower to authorize arms shipments to Israel and start talks with that nation toward a mutual security pact.

The action was taken Sunday at a meeting of the National Zionist Administrative Council, the ruling body of the Zionist Organization of America.

Japanese Fearing A-Power But Hope For Future Use

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A Japanese atomic energy commission member and Nobel-Prize scientist said today his country lived in "tremendous fear" of atomic power mixed with hope it would save them economically.

Hiedeki Yukawa, winner of the 49 Nobel Prize in physics, said the atom could bring power his country needed to operate its industries and thus solve its greatest economic problem, shortage of engine fuel.

"On the other hand," he added in an interview, "the Japanese have a tremendous fear of the atom. With Russia testing H-bombs on one side of us and the United States testing them on the other we feel sometimes as though we were in a valley surrounded by death."

Yukawa also recalled that his country knew the destructive power of the atom from the bombings of two of its cities, Hiroshima and Nagasaki, in World War II. He is in San Diego to participate in an industrial conference on nuclear reactors at General Atomics Division of General Dynamics Corp.

The first commercial television station in Australia is scheduled to begin regular transmission in September.

S. senator, congressman and state senator, with the name of their party under the candidates. These ballots will undergo the same process of rotating as the presidential ballot.

Another type of ballot to be given each voter is titled "Non-Partisan Ballot". This ballot will contain the names of all candidates for election to judicial offices. This year Ohio is electing a chief justice of the Supreme Court, and two judges of the Supreme Court, in addition to one judge of the Court of Appeals in this appellate district; also the judge of the Common Pleas Court in Fayette County.

STILL ANOTHER ballot will be known as the "Question and Issues Ballot". This will be of special interest because such ballots will provide for voting the school bond issue for $645,000, which will be presented only on this ballot to voters in the Washington School District. Voters of the Miami Trace School District will receive on their question and issue ballot the proposal for the school bond issue in that district for $1,652,500.

Voters of Union Township, on this same ballot will have the opportunity to vote on an $8,000 bond issue to pay the township's share for real estate and certain other improvements for Union's cemetery established jointly with Washington C. H. in what is known as the Washington Cemetery.

Green Township also has an issue for its voters on this ballot in the form of a .5 mill special levy to provide fire protection.

TWO COUNTY WIDE levies also will be up for approval. One provides for renewal of a .25 of a mill levy as Fayette County's share in the maintenance of Mt. Logan Sanatorium at Chillicothe which is supported by six Ohio counties with some financial aid from the state.

The other will be for renewal of the .2 of a mill levy for the Fayette County Health Department.

A ballot carrying two proposed constitutional amendments, as directed by the last Ohio General Assembly, is a voter which each Fayette County voter will receive.

THE FIRST of these amendments is to authorize the issuance of bonds up to $90,000,000. The proceeds of the fund created by the sale of these bonds would be used to pay a bonus to Ohio residents who served in the armed forces of the United States in the Korean conflict, or to certain of their survivors. The maximum amount of compensation payable under this proposed amendment is $400.

The second constitutional amendment provides that the term of office of members of the Ohio Senate shall be four years. If this amendment is adopted by a majority vote of the electors, it will not affect the terms of Senators who take office prior to Jan. 1, 1956.

Freedom Near, Trago Looking Forward To Campaign in Fall

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP)—David L. Trago, former Jackson County sheriff, is scheduled for release from the Gallia County jail here next Thursday after serving a full year's sentence on a morals charge.

And the former official says he is ready to begin waging his campaigning for re-election to the sheriff's office in the Nov. 6 election.

Only roadblock to Trago's expected freedom is payment of a $1,000 fine and court costs of about $1,800, part of the sentence given him on Aug. 30 last year. At that time a juvenile court jury found him guilty, after about four weeks of trial, of making immoral advances to a young Air Force recruit.

Trago is confident the money for his fine and costs will be ready for payment to the court to assure his release next Thursday. Otherwise he could face some two years and eight months more in jail, serving out the fine and costs at the rate of $3 per day.

There have been reports that Trago's friends have raised the money for the payment of the fine and costs, and to finance his campaign for re-election in Jackson County in November.

Even while he was in jail here, Trago scored a sweeping victory in the Democratic primary balloting last May. He was ousted as sheriff by Jackson County commissioners last December for being absent from his duties for a period of 90 days.

In the primary election, Trago gathered 1,688 votes, more than the combined total of his opponents, Arthur Bishop with 698 and Sam Womeldorf with 376, both former deputies in his office. John Evans, appointed to the sheriff's office, won the Republican nomination with 4,063 votes.

Trago told newsmen here recently: "I have no doubt about winning in November. I know the people over there (in Jackson County) know the deal I had and won't let me down."

In the normally Republican county, Trago won with a 107-vote margin over his Republican opponent, Charles Dixon, in 1952, to become the first Democratic sheriff in the county for several years, and the fifth in some 80 years.

He still has plans to appeal his conviction to the Ohio Supreme Court. He lost an earlier appeal to the Fourth District Court of Appeals.

Georgian Wounded By Fish Spear Gun

ATLANTA (AP)—A 43-year-old man remained in critical condition from a chest wound today after being shot with a skin diver's spear gun.

John T. Pritchett of suburban Tucker was shot Sunday, following an argument over payment of a bet. The six-inch spear shaft, studded with two-inch barbs, entered his chest and came out under the left shoulder blade.

Patrolman F. M. Bonner said Vernon H. Loudermilk, 25, of Avondale was jailed on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

The weapon was intended for use in spearing fish.

Death Rate Higher In Coal Mines

WASHINGTON (AP)—Coal mine accidents caused 41 deaths during July, the Bureau of Mines has reported.

The fatality rate of 1.61 per million man hours of work time was the highest for any month since December, 1951. In that month, the rate was 2.63 as the direct result of an explosion disaster in an Illinois mine which killed 119.

Based on production, the fatality rate last month was 1.27 per million tons, the highest for any 1956 month.

Ohio Politicos Get Only Brief Breather

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio gets only a breather between the national and state political conventions.

Democrats hold their state convention Sept. 8 in Columbus' big new Memorial Hall. Republicans convene Sept. 12 in the RKP Palace Theater here.

Democrats expect to have presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson as the star of their show. Party leaders express high hopes of winning approval from National Chairman Paul Butler for Stevenson's appearance.

A major address by Stevenson so soon after his renomination in Chicago last week would point up the importance of Ohio as a battleground in the Nov. 6 election, they explained.

Ohio Democrats assert Stevenson will put punch into their drive to retain the governorship, capture a U. S. Senate seat and win more congressional posts.

Republicans are assured of a major address at their convention by Sen. William F. Knowland of California, U. S. Senate majority leader.

Knowland, temporary chairman of the National GOP Convention ended this week, drew applause for his praise of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft as a "great Republican and American statesman."

Say Appeasement Raised Canal Tiff

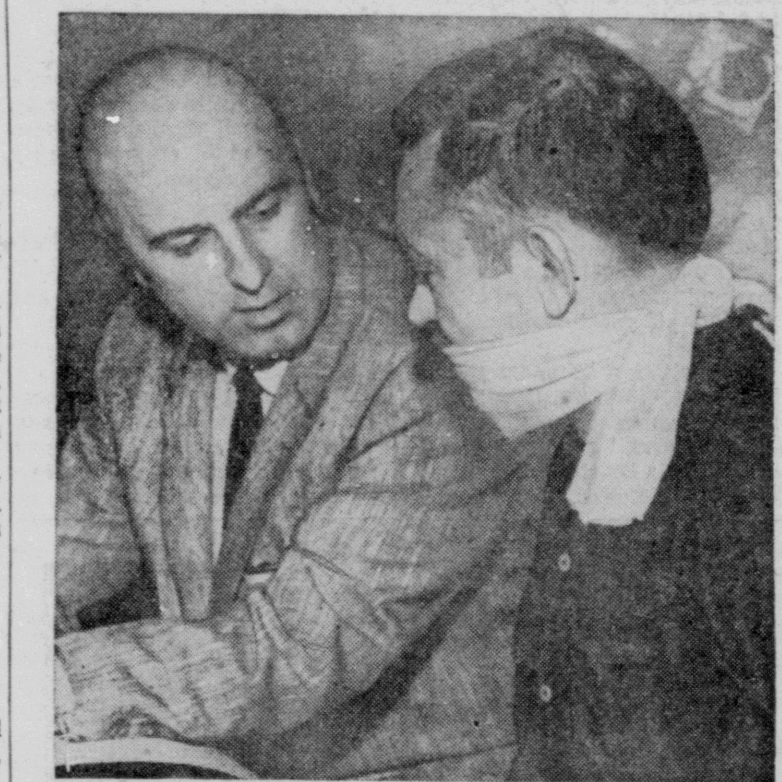

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. Zionist leaders say Egyptian seizure of the Suez Canal Company was the "inevitable outcome" of what they call U. S. State Department appeasement of the Arab states.

At the same time the Zionists passed a resolution urging President Eisenhower to authorize arms shipments to Israel and start talks with that nation toward a mutual security pact.

The action was taken Sunday at a meeting of the National Zionist Administrative Council, the ruling body of the Zionist Organization of America.

Republicans held 17 of Ohio's 23 seats in the House of Representatives during the last Congress and dispute claims of Democrats that they will elect more than six Ohio congressmen this year.

A total of 915 delegates will attend the Republican state convention. About the same number will attend the Democratic sessions.

The conventions will adopt party state platforms and make their choices for members of the electoral college.

Although names of the presidential and vice presidential nominees will appear on Ohio election ballots, voters actually ballot for electors. Presidential electors chosen by voters will meet next December and vote for the national nominees of their party.

Ohio has 25 electoral votes, one for each of the 23 congressmen and one for each of the state's two U. S. senators.

Both parties will hold preliminary meetings on the eve of their state conventions.

Japanese Fearing A-Power But Hope For Future Use

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A Japanese atomic energy commission member and Nobel-Prize scientist said today his country lived in "tremendous fear" of atomic power mixed with hope it would save them economically.

Hiedeki Yukawa, winner of the 49 Nobel Prize in physics, said the atom could bring power his country needed to operate its industries and thus solve its greatest economic problem, shortage of engine fuel.

"On the other hand," he added in an interview, "the Japanese have a tremendous fear of the atom. With Russia testing H-bombs on one side of us and the United States testing them on the other we feel sometimes as though we were in a valley surrounded by death."

Yukawa also recalled that his country knew the destructive power of the atom from the bombings of two of its cities, Hiroshima and Nagasaki, in World War II.

He is in San Diego to participate in an industrial conference on nuclear reactors at General Atomics Division of General Dynamics Corp.

The first commercial television station in Australia is scheduled to begin regular transmission in September.

A Move To Simplify Doctor's Code of Ethics

The average physician often has been subjected to criticism from unthinking people which is not deserved in far more cases than the few who, like all the rest of us, may get out-of-step occasionally in the matter of service he is expected to give.

In fact most people's lack of knowledge of the conditions which any one else faces is the cause for fault-finding to a degree that seems to be increasing rather than diminishing. Maybe such action in most cases is the result of the critics having not enough to do themselves.

The American Medical Association in some of its recent statements does not condone any of the real faults of a physician who is not doing the job he should, but it has appealed to the fairness of the public in its estimation of a doctor's activities.

It is now reported that at a meeting next December of the AMA, there shall be up for adoption a move to reduce the physician's code of ethics to a one page document, a cut of nearly 90 per cent in the amount of words of the present recognized code which some have stated approaches verbiage.

The projected new code deals entirely with ethical principles. These are of the highest importance to all who ever visit a doctor — which, of course, means everyone in the long run. Here are some of them:

The prime objective of the medical profession is to render service to humanity.

Doctors should keep trying to increase their own knowledge and share it with others.

Doctors must expose unethical conduct of other doctors.

They should not permit anything to interfere with their independent medical judgment.

They should limit their professional income to medical services.

They should seek consultation on difficult cases.

They should participate in any community activity that has the object of improving the health and welfare of the people.

There is, of course, nothing new about any of these principles, except the admirably brief and simple wording. Doctors — with very few exceptions — have always held to the highest standards of ethics. One responsibility is paramount to all others — to do all for the patient that skill and knowledge will permit. There is no room in medicine for those who will not or cannot uphold such standards.

Dentistry in Hong Kong

HONG KONG — It took a large economy-size toothache to drive Po Hsiao — Chou to a Peiping dentist. He should have stayed in bed.

After three weeks of suffering with a swollen jaw and a fever, Po decided to risk it. Like all good Communists, he toddled off to the state hospital in Peiping.

There was a big crowd in the waiting room so, just to while away the time, Po picked up a thing called the "Suggestions Book," a Communist invention in which people inscribe their complaints about life in a workers' paradise.

"I began to read," said Po, in a feature article written for the Peiping People's Daily. And the more he read, the more his fever rose.

One patient wrote: "Today you smashed my tooth while pulling it out hard. Because the under part of the tooth was still there, operation was required to take it out."

"So you pulled apart the opening with knives and used drill, chisel and other instruments to extract it. Then in stitching the opened part you broke three needles.

"Then you waited for a long time for new needles borrowed from other sections. This time, you snapped the needle point and what was worse, the point just disappeared. You searched inside my mouth for the broken piece and even used small hooks to probe the part operated on."

For a while, Po could read no further. He wondered if his ailing tooth really had to be taken out.

Po turned the page and found the doctor's reply to the patients' complaints.

"Comrade, your remark is basically correct. We accept it wholeheartedly.

"But the situation on that day requires explanation. Your tooth has had an abnormal growth and this makes our job difficult.

"As to the broken needles, they are home made ones bought in Shanghai. As the needles are not of good quality, we wish here to apologize to you on behalf of the needle factory.

"As to the time spent in locating the broken needle point, it was entirely worthwhile. For if the points were left in the jaw, it might develop complications."

"However, we have done our best and the point has not been found. Maybe, it might have been washed away together, with the blood."

"I had the creeps," wrote Po. "I turned tense. But just then the nurse called my number."

Trembling, he entered the consultation room.

The operation was a success. No pain. On his way home, Po kept his mouth shut, so germs wouldn't get into his mouth. Back home, he laughed over the panic the suggestions book had brought him.

"I started a good laugh and looked at my laughing mouth in the mirror.

"Good heavens! One thing froze my smile. I rubbed my eyes and took a good look. I was not wrong.

"The nasty tooth was still there but the good one next to it was gone."

What Do We Do about Nasser?

By George Sokolsky

While both conventions were stimulating excitement and interest, John Foster Dulles was in London negotiating to prevent World War III from exploding.

If this country was ever on the brink of another war, it was over the Suez Canal issue and our responsibilities to the nations that compose NATO. If the British and French chose to defend themselves at Cairo, the United States could not have remained outside the battle.

Nasser raises as severe a test as Hitler did, because experience with Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin has served as an index to the characteristics of dictators and the dangers involved in any commerce with them and Nasser pursues their pattern at the wrong time and in the wrong place.

Yet, as a practical matter, there is no way of avoiding dealing with men of this type if they are in possession of territory and in control of people. Even when we refuse to recognize an outlaw government such as Red China, we are forced by circumstances to have transactions with it, as we have been negotiating with Red China at Geneva for more than a year, ostensibly over the release of American prisoners of war in that country, but pragmatically as a means of direct contact.

So it must be with Nasser. He is in control of Egypt and he has seized the Suez Canal and the Suez Canal Co. and such an act could bring on a war, because Nasser has the support of the Soviet Universal State as well as India. The question was either to fight a formula for peace or to fight.

No one could possibly tell where such a war would lead to: on the other hand, if Nasser got away with seizing property to which he did not hold the deed, who could tell how far this precedent would go in the Arabian world?

Dulles' proposal for a world control of the canal has generally proved to be acceptable to most nations at the London Conference. Of course, Nasser will have to agree to whatever conclusion is reached or nothing has been accomplished. On the other hand, if Soviet Russia accepts the American proposal, it would be impossible for Nasser to take an adamant position, although desperate politicians have before this clung to power at any cost.

Nasser's program for the development of an Arab Universal State led by Egypt depends entirely upon Soviet acquiescence. Nasser's present display of strength is based upon his alliance with Soviet Russia, an alliance, an understanding, an agreement, whatever it may be, which provides Egypt with modern arms and technical assistance while at the same time absorbing important quantities of Egyptian cotton.

Were it not for this arrangement, whatever it may be, Nasser could not have adopted so recalcitrant an attitude toward the West nor would he have dared arouse the Arab world to the destruction of Israel.

At any rate, if Dulles can win Sheplov and his superiors to a peaceful solution, Nasser will have to accept the London formula for the management of the Suez Canal with whatever face-saving device can be worked out, and there will be no war over this issue. The effort is, of course, worthwhile because as much as war is unthinkable, it could take place over such incidents as the seizure of the Suez Canal Co.

The difficulty with a character like Nasser is that he is not too well understood by those who must do business with him. He is new. He is crass. He is bumptious. He is popular with his own people. He has won a wide acceptance in the Arab world.

It is impossible to ignore Nasser; it is equally difficult to know how to do business with him. Like all dictators he makes his own rules and changes them in the middle of the game.

But he is there. He has power. He can use that power destructively. He already has brought the world to the brink of war. He might succeed in making war.

The necessity then is to find a formula acceptable to Nasser, to Russia, to India and the West. It has been a stupendous and challenging task and if John Foster Dulles succeeds in establishing such a formula, he is deserving of applause by his countrymen. The people of the United States do not want war; they are very tired of being humiliated.

Heart Ill Attacking Men, Women Equally

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
Recent reports seem to indicate that almost as many women as men are suffering from myocardial infarction.

These statistics, reported by a large St. Louis hospital, are surprising since it had been, and still seems to be, generally believed that for every woman who fell victim, three to seven men suffered from the condition.

Special Treatment

Like any serious heart condition, this one, in which the heart muscles become deadened, requires individualized treatment.

Many problems encountered in recovering from the ailment must also be resolved with the particular patient in mind.

Smoking, for example, usually is left up to the patient himself. While we have only inconclusive evidence that, smoking shortens one's life, it must be pointed out that tobacco, obviously, does you no good in such cases.

Emotional Tension

Excessive smoking, of course, should be halted especially by a patient recovering from myocardial infarction. Frequently, smoking too much indicates undesirable emotional tension which must be eliminated to aid recovery.

Virtually everyone knows, I believe, that strenuous exertion is bad for anyone recovering from heart trouble. However, most patients are permitted moderate exercise like walking, a little golfing and a little hunting.

While physical overexertion can be harmful to the cardiac patient, mental stress may be just as bad. And it's more difficult to control.

It's important for anyone recovering from myocardial infarction to avoid great emotional tension.

If a job, for instance, means heavy responsibility, it might be a good idea to seek another one. It's natural for anyone recovering from a heart condition to be apprehensive. For, however must be eliminated. If it isn't, it may only aggravate the ailment.

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mild talking President Eisenhower may have to be tough-talking if he's re-elected. His pleasant relationship with Congress doesn't figure to last through a second term.

For him a second term must be his last one, under the constitutional amendment adopted in 1951. It's almost axiomatic that a president serving his last term loses influence on Congress.

This was recognized in Corwin's and Koenig's recent book, "The Presidency Today," when they said:

"It has been repeatedly found that, once the end of the incumbent's tenure is definitely known, his influence in Congress dwindles and his programs come to a standstill."

In his first term Eisenhower relied mainly on gentle persuasion with Democrats and Republicans to his programs through Congress. Much he got. Much he didn't.

Critics complain he would have accomplished more if he had asserted more leadership, fought harder, been tougher.

Some of the strongest opposition to Eisenhower during his first term came from within the Republican ranks in Congress. But it's no wonder the sounds of discord die down as the election approaches.

Eisenhower is the greatest unemployment insurance Republicans in Congress have had since Herbert Hoover won the presidency in 1928 and carried the Republicans along with him to control of Congress.

Eisenhower did that for them in 1952. They lost to the Democrats in the 1954 off-year elections when Eisenhower wasn't running. They looked steadily forward to 1956.

So long as it was possible he would run again this year, they could hope not only to retain their own seats but even add a few more to get a majority over the Democrats.

One of Eisenhower's stated reasons for running now is to help the party. But once he wins—if he does — Republicans in Congress will no longer have that same job-security dependence on him, since he can't run for a third term.

It's natural therefore that he would lose some influence over them. Besides, a Republican victory in Congress would mean some of the Republicans who disagree with him most would regain key committee chairmanships.

Further: With Eisenhower out of the 1960 running, congressional Republicans with presidential ambitions would have to assert themselves if they hoped for the party nomination four years from now. They'd hardly look like stand-outs acting like rubber stamps for Eisenhower. He could expect trouble there. A good example is what happened during his first term:

Sen. Knowland of California, Republican Senate leader, bucked Eisenhower repeatedly on foreign affairs. And this year he started for the presidential nomination only to withdraw when Eisenhower said he'd run.

As for the Democrats: He got cooperation and opposition from them in his first four years. They sought to make a record for themselves to run on this year. They'll have to do the same again for 1958 and 1960.

NOT ONLY adults, but children as well are being trained by Egypt as an aftermath of the Suez canal seizure, these photos from Cairo show. Upper: Youngsters ranging from 6 to 9 years old learn to "cover" an enemy. This kindergarten contingent includes a 6-year-old private and an 8-year-old sergeant. Lower: Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, commander-in-chief of Egypt's armed forces, gives a pep talk to recruits into Suez canal pilot service. Some are commercial vessel skippers, some naval academy graduates.

Dentistry in Hong Kong

HONG KONG — It took a large economy-size toothache to drive Po Hsiao-Chou to a Peiping dentist. He should have stayed in bed.

After three weeks of suffering with a swollen jaw and a fever, Po decided to risk it. Like all good Communists, he toddled off to the state hospital in Peiping.

There was a big crowd in the waiting room so, just to while away the time, Po picked up a thing called the "Suggestions Book," a Communist invention in which people inscribe their complaints about life in a workers' paradise.

"I began to read," said Po, in a feature article written for the Peiping People's Daily. And the more he read, the more his fever rose.

One patient wrote:
"Today you smashed my tooth while pulling it out hard. Because the under part of the tooth was still there, operation was required to take it out."

"So you pulled apart the opening with knives and used drill, chisel and other instruments to extract it. Then in stitching the opened part you broke three needles.

"Then you waited for a long time for new needles borrowed from other sections. This time, you snapped the needle point and what was worse, the point just disappeared. You searched inside my mouth for the broken piece and even used small hooks to probe the part operated on."

For a while, Po could read no further. He wondered if his ailing tooth really had to be taken out.

Po turned the page and found the doctor's reply to the patients' complaints.

"Comrade, your remark is basically correct. We accept it wholeheartedly.

"But the situation on that day requires explanation. Your tooth has had an abnormal growth and this makes our job difficult.

"As to the broken needles, they are home made ones bought in Shanghai. As the needles are not of good quality, we wish here to apologize to you on behalf of the needle factory.

"As to the time spent in locating the broken needle point, it was entirely worthwhile. For if the points were left in the jaw, it might develop complications.

"However, we have done our best and the point has not been found. Maybe, it might have been washed away together, with the blood."

"I had the creeps," wrote Po. "I turned tense. But just then the nurse called my number."

Trembling, he entered the consultation room.

The operation was a success. No pain. On his way home, Po kept his mouth shut, so germs wouldn't get into his mouth. Back home, he laughed over the panic the suggestions book had brought him.

"I started a good laugh and looked at my laughing mouth in the mirror.

"Good heavens! One thing froze my smile. I rubbed my eyes and took a good look. I was not wrong.

"The nasty tooth was still there but the good one next to it was gone."

What Do We Do about Nasser?

While both conventions were stimulating excitement and interest, John Foster Dulles was in London negotiating to prevent World War III from exploding.

If this country was ever on the brink of another war, it was over the Suez Canal issue and our responsibilities to the nations that compose NATO. If the British and French choose to defend themselves at Cairo, the United States could not have remained outside the battle.

Nasser raises as severe a test as Hitler did, because experience with Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin has served as an index to the characteristics of dictators and the dangers involved in any commerce with them and Nasser pursues their pattern at the wrong time and in the wrong place.

Yet, as a practical matter, there is no way of avoiding dealing with men of this type if they are in possession of territory and in control of people. Even when we refuse to recognize an outlaw government such as Red China, we are forced by circumstances to have transactions with it, as we have been negotiating with Red China at Geneva for more than a year, ostensibly over the release of American prisoners of war in that country, but pragmatically as a means of direct contact.

So it must be with Nasser. He is in control of Egypt and he has seized the Suez Canal and the Suez Canal Co. and such an act could bring on a war, because Nasser has the support of the Soviet Universal State as well as India. The question was either to find a formula for peace or to fight.

No one could possibly tell where such a war would lead to; on the other hand, if Nasser got away with seizing property to which he did not hold the deed, who could tell how far this precedent would go in the Arabian world?

Dulles' proposal for a world control of the canal has generally proved to be acceptable to most nations at the London Conference.

ference. Of course, Nasser will have to agree to whatever conclusion is reached or nothing has been accomplished. On the other hand, if Soviet Russia accepts the American proposal, it would be impossible for Nasser to take an adamant position, although desperate politicians have before this clung to power at any cost.

Nasser's program for the development of an Arab Universal State led by Egypt depends entirely upon Soviet acquiescence. Nasser's present display of strength is based upon his alliance with Soviet Russia, an alliance, an understanding, an agreement, whatever it may be, which provides Egypt with modern arms and technical assistance while at the same time absorbing important quantities of Egyptian cotton.

Were it not for this arrangement, whatever it may be, Nasser could not have adopted so recalcitrant an attitude toward the West nor would he have dared arouse the Arab world to the destruction of Israel.

At any rate, if Dulles can win Shepilov and his superiors to a peaceful solution, Nasser will have to accept the London formula for the management of the Suez Canal with whatever face-saving device can be worked out, and there will be no war over this issue. The effort is, of course, worthwhile because as much as war is unthinkable, it could take place over such incidents as the seizure of the Suez Canal Co.

The difficulty with a character like Nasser is that he is not too well understood by those who must do business with him. He is new. He is crass. He is bumptious. He is popular with his own people. He has won a wide acceptance in the Arab world.

It is impossible to ignore Nasser; it is equally difficult to know how to do business with him. Like all dictators he makes his own rules and changes them in the middle of the game.

But he is there. He has power. He can use that power destructively. He already has brought the world to the brink of war. He might succeed in making war.

The necessity then is to find a formula acceptable to Nasser, to Russia, to India and the West. It has been a stupendous and challenging task and if John Foster Dulles succeeds in establishing such a formula, he is deserving of applause by his countrymen. The people of the United States do not want war; they are very tired of being humiliated.

Heart Ill Attacking Men, Women Equally

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
Recent reports seem to indicate that almost as many women as men are suffering from myocardial infarction.

These statistics, reported by a large St. Louis hospital, are surprising since it had been, and still seems to be, generally believed that for every woman who fell victim, three to seven men suffered from the condition.

Special Treatment

Like any serious heart condition, this one, in which the heart muscles become deadened, requires individualized treatment.

Many problems encountered in recovering from the ailment must also be resolved with the particular patient in mind.

Smoking, for example, usually is left up to the patient himself. While we have only inconclusive evidence that smoking shortens one's life, it must be pointed out that tobacco, obviously, does you no good in such cases.

Emotional Tension

Excessive smoking, of course, should be halted especially by a patient recovering from myocardial infarction. Frequently, smoking too much indicates undesirable emotional tension which must be eliminated to aid recovery.

Virtually everyone knows, I believe, that strenuous exertion is bad for anyone recovering from heart trouble. However, most patients are permitted moderate exercise like walking, a little golfing and a little hunting.

While physical overexertion can be harmful to the cardiac patient, mental stress may be just as bad. And it's more difficult to control.

It's important for anyone recovering from myocardial infarction to avoid great emotional tension.

If a job, for instance, means heavy responsibility, it might be a good idea to seek another one. It's natural for anyone recovering from a heart condition to be apprehensive. For, however must be eliminated. If it isn't, it may only aggravate the ailment.

The Nation Today

James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mild talking President Eisenhower may have to be tough-talking if he's re-elected. His pleasant relationship with Congress doesn't figure to last through a second term.

For him a second term must be his last one, under the constitutional amendment adopted in 1951. It's almost axiomatic that a president serving his last term loses influence on Congress.

This was recognized in Corwin's and Koenig's recent book, "The Presidency Today," when they said:

"It has been repeatedly found that, once the end of the incumbent's tenure is definitely known, his influence in Congress dwindles and his programs come to a standstill."

In his first term Eisenhower relied mainly on gentle persuasion with Democrats and Republicans to his programs through Congress. Much he got. Much he didn't.

Critics complain he would have accomplished more if he had asserted more leadership, fought harder, been tougher.

Some of the strongest opposition to Eisenhower during his first term came from within the Republican ranks in Congress. But it's no wonder the sounds of discord die down as the election approaches.

Eisenhower is the greatest unemployment insurance Republicans in Congress have had since Herbert Hoover won the presidency in 1928 and carried the Republicans along with him to control of Congress.

Eisenhower did that for them in 1952. They lost to the Democrats in the 1954 off-year elections when Eisenhower wasn't running. They looked steadily forward to 1956.

So long as it was possible he would run again this year, they could hope not only to retain their own seats but even add a few more to get a majority over the Democrats.

One of Eisenhower's stated reasons for running now is to help the party. But once he wins—if he does — Republicans in Congress will no longer have that same job security dependence on him, since he can't run for a third term.

It's natural therefore that he would lose some influence over them. Besides, a Republican victory in Congress would mean some of the Republicans who disagree with him most would regain key committee chairmanships.

Further: With Eisenhower out of the 1960 running, congressional Republicans with presidential ambitions would have to assert themselves if they hoped for the party nomination four years from now. They'd hardly look like standouts acting like rubber stamps for Eisenhower. He could expect trouble there. A good example is what happened during his first term:

Sen. Knowland of California, Republican Senate leader, bucked Eisenhower repeatedly on foreign affairs. And this year he started for the presidential nomination only to withdraw when Eisenhower said he'd run.

As for the Democrats: He got cooperation and opposition from them in his first four years. They sought to make a record for themselves to run on this year. They'll have to do the same again for 1958 and 1960.

NOT ONLY adults, but children as well are being trained by Egypt as an aftermath of the Suez canal seizure, these photos from Cairo show. Upper: Youngsters ranging from 6 to 9 years old learn to "cover" an enemy. This kindergarten contingent includes a 6-year-old private and an 8-year-old sergeant. Lower: Maj. Gen. Political Pot Simmering in Latin America

By EMIL ZUBRYN
(Central Press Association)
MEXICO CITY — The political weather for Central and South America is unsettled, troubled and stormy. Plots and counterplots, revolutionary uprisings and general political discontent are the order of the day.

In Argentina, a provisional government is headed by Gen. Eusebio Aramburu. He sits uneasily

Nicaragua's President Somoza has held office since 1937.

In the executive seat to which he was elevated by an army board made up of generals who rose against dictator Juan Peron.

"The eradication of 'peronismo' will be a long and arduous task. And the military clique in power has told the Argentinian populace that the time is not yet ripe for constitutional elections.

THE CITIZENS have been told that "maybe in a year" the provisional government will yield to a democratically elected president. And it's a big "maybe."

Naturally, this has caused confusion in the country. There are some who agree to a delay in elections until the political scene has calmed down.

Argentine President Aramburu, uneasy in the executive seat.

The provisional government blames all its ills on the dissolved Peron party which is working actively underground.

The Argentine Communist party, too, is making political capital of the growing discontent. The Communists were never ousted in Argentina under Peron. They were considered a "puny enemy."

When Peron was overthrown, the Communists made a strong, unsuccessful bid for a division of the political booty. Now that they have lost, they are outspokenly antagonistic to the Aramburu government.

There are even indications that the Communists may be secretly supporting the outlawed Peron forces in a bold attempt to overthrow the present military regime. The minister of the interior is considering the banning of the Communist party as a strong measure to contain constant unrest that is proving a major obstacle to the avowed aim of a "nation politically well prepared to rule itself."

PRESS REPORTS have mentioned unrest in Bolivia, Colombia, Guatemala and other south-of-the-border nations. In all cases the political developments of the past few years have been anything but conducive to peace. Instead, the upstart revolutions of "have nots" and the "haves" appear to be bringing back the good old days of comic opera revolts south of the Rio Grande.

Gen. Carlos Castillo Armas of Guatemala has maintained but a shaky hold over the country ever since his armed rebellion swept him into power from exile.

His critics are growing from month to month, apart from the embarrassing facts circulated in leaflets and an anti-administration monthly by Guatemalan university students. The opposition seeks and does not obtain answers to charges of graft and outright thievery.

Gen. Anastasio Somoza, head of Nicaragua since 1937, is not looked upon with favor by certain citizens of the land who see nothing funny in the practice of remaining in the presidential seat forever. Gen. Somoza, of course, points out that he is only fulfilling the desires of the people.

MAYBE he is a "benevolent dictator," but President Somoza has contributed anything but peace in the troubled Central American area. His violation of nonaggression principles in preparations for an invasion of Costa Rica and his personal quarrel with President Jose Figueres Ferrer are two cases.

On the other hand, he has been dubbed "the most loyal friend of the United States in all of Latin America." This because he is not averse to utilizing United States capital for economic expansion of the nation.

The strongly nationalist opposition, chiefly the Conservative party, does not view with good grace the influx of United States money and technicians.

However, the strangest thing of all is that the rabid attackers

Boss Kettering Is Turning 80

DETROIT (AP)—Charles F. ("Boss") Kettering, one-time school teacher, telephone trouble shooter and installer, inventor and the auto industry's No. 1 engineer-scientist, will celebrate his 80th birthday anniversary on Aug. 29.

Some 1,500 of his friends and associates will help celebrate the milestone of the man who probably has contributed more to automobile's development than any other individual.

Kettering's friends will mark the event with a luncheon at the NCR Country Club, Dayton, Ohio. The affair is sponsored by a civic committee.

Kettering's associates say that while, technically, he retired in 1947 from the post of General Motors vice president in charge of research, actually he will not retire until "the last mystery of the universe has been solved."

For himself Kettering says of his "retirement," that he "would not want to fool around with that sort of thing." So he goes on centering his interest on all things scientific and progressive.

"We are not at the end of our progress," he says, "but at the beginning. It is man's destiny to ponder on the riddle of existence and, as a by-product of his wonderment, to create a new life on this earth."

"Science," says Kettering, "is merely finding out how nature does things."

Noted for his sharp whitticisms, Kettering sometimes has embarrassed his associates by comments on their conclusions. To one who once told him a certain design of piston would not work, he commented:

"How do you know it won't work? Were you ever a piston?"

He occasionally embarrasses them, too, with his ability to simplify some of the most complex scientific problems.

The world's motorists have Kettering to thank for many fundamental engineering advances.

Among them are the refinement of the automatic starter; the improved ignition systems; development of ethyl gasoline; the fact a passenger vehicle can be lacerated in one hour instead of painted in 37 days as was the practice in earlier days and many other basic improvements.

But there are other things besides automotive research that have benefited from the Kettering efforts. In 1925 he founded the C. F. Kettering Foundation for the study of chlorophyll and photosynthesis at Antioch College. As Kettering described this project it was to determine "why grass is green." But it contributed much information concerning the structure of the chlorophyll molecule and the mechanism of photosynthesis.

Another Kettering project was the fever therapy research project at the Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton. It brought forth the Kettering hypertherm, used in fever therapy work by many leading hospitals.

Another major project sharing Kettering's interest is the Sloan-Kettering Institute for cancer research, established in 1945 jointly with Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., retired board chairman of General Motors Corp.

"My contribution to this," Kettering said, "has been to supply some of the general types of techniques long employed in industrial scientific research. All this must be done through the medical profession. Mr. Sloan and I, over the years, have worked on many apparently hopeless industrial problems which today seem simple. I am inclined to think we can apply some of our time-tired techniques to this age-old problem."

Kettering has been the recipient of scores of degrees, medals and awards. More than 30 degrees name him Doctor of Science; Doctor of Engineering; Doctor of Laws; of Humane Letters and of Humanities.

The citations include such tributes as "one whose life and work will be honored for all time as exemplifying the college-trained man at his noblest and best;" recognizing his "many outstanding contributions to the welfare of the nation by his advancement of science, invention and the American patent system;" and the "highest distinction in the engineering profession."

Kettering was born on a farm near Loudonville, Ohio. At 19 he was teacher of 30 children in a one-room country school at Bunker Hill, Ohio.

His early college education was interrupted twice by eye trouble, but he was graduated from Ohio State University in 1904 with a degree in electrical engineering. He began his early career with the National Cash Register Co.

In 1909 he founded the Dayton Engineering Laboratories Co., which later became a division of General Motors. Kettering's hundreds of contributions to the automotive industry began about this time. His friends say they still are coming from the keen mind of one of the industry's most beloved individuals.

It once was suggested to Kettering that his "retirement" merely took him off the General Motors payroll. Kettering replied that for many years he had not seen a paycheck. The late Mrs. Kettering, he said, used to get it and deposit it in the bank. After her death the corporation made the deposits.

The paycheck ran into six figures annually. But it probably bothered Kettering not at all. He owned upward of half a million shares of General Motors stock.

Steel Bothered By Unexpected Rise in Costs

CLEVELAND (AP)—Unexpected sharp increases in production costs are causing a pinch in steelmaking profits, "Steel" magazine said today.

Soaring prices of steelmaking scrap and the possibility of higher transportation costs through all-rail shipment of iron ore this winter will not be offset by the recent $8.50 a ton increase in steel prices which was designed to take care of higher wages in the industry, the magazine said.

"The situation," said the publication, "may either reduce steel industry earnings or possibly force a further readjustment in steel prices."

Scrap prices, already higher than ever before, are likely to stay high, the trade weekly said. The magazine's price composite on scrap for the week ended Aug. 22 was $58.17 a gross ton, a rise of $1.50 over the level of the preceding week and 28 per cent higher than the year's low of $45.50 which came during the height of the recent steel strike.

"Steel" said iron ore could be in short supply before the great lakes carriers sail next spring, requiring a heavy dependence on scrap for the manufacture of steel.

"The pinch on iron ore comes from the strike against some of the Great Lakes ore fleet," the magazine said. "The boats have to deliver enough ore in the summer to last through the winter or else more must come via rail, at higher cost. An early winter would hasten the predicament." The magazine said the increases in prices of other metalworking products may be more moderate than was expected in view of higher steel prices. A recent survey by the magazine showed that prices in the metalworking industries are rising, but the adjustment will average about 8 per cent. Fierce competition is expected to hold down the increases.

"Auto company prices, for example, in contrast with a steel price increase of 6.5 per cent and increases in some components averaging close to 7.5 per cent, are not expected to go up even luxury models," the trade publication said.

Steel ingot production last week reached 95.5 per cent of rated capacity, the same rate that prevailed during the week ended June 25, just before the steel strike. That was a jump of 8.5 points over the previous week's output.

"Steel's" composite price on finished steel stood at $137.59 a net ton, unchanged from the previous week.

Political Pot Simmering in Latin America

By EMIL ZUBRYN
(Central Press Association)
MEXICO CITY — The political weather for Central and South America is unsettled, troubled and stormy. Plots and counterplots, revolutionary uprisings and general political discontent are the order of the day.

Nicaragua's President Somoza has held office since 1937.

In Argentina, a provisional government is headed by Gen. Eugenio Aramburu. He sits uneasily in the executive seat to which he was elevated by an army board made up of generals who rose against dictator Juan Peron.

"The eradication of 'peronismo' will be a long and arduous task. And the military clique in power has told the Argentinian populace that the time is not ripe for constitutional elections.

THE CITIZENS have been told that "maybe in a year" the provisional government will yield to a democratically elected president. And it's a big "maybe."

Naturally, this has caused confusion in the country. There are nistic to the Aramburu government.

There are even indications that the Communists may be secretly supporting the outlawed Peron forces in a bold attempt to overthrow the present military regime.

The minister of the interior is considering the banning of the Communist party as a strong measure to contain constant unrest that is proving a major obstacle to the avowed aim of a "nation politically well prepared to rule itself."

PRESS REPORTS have mentioned unrest in Bolivia, Colombia, Guatemala and other south-of-the-border nations. In all cases the political developments of the past few years have been anything but conducive to peace. Instead, the upstart revolutions of "have nots" envious of the "haves" appear to be bringing back the good old days of comic opera revolts south of the Rio Grande.

Gen. Carlos Castillo Armas of Guatemala has maintained but a shaky hold over the country ever since his armed rebellion swept him into power from exile.

His critics are growing from month to month, apart from the embarrassing facts circulated in leaflets and an anti-administration monthly by Guatemalan university students. The opposition seeks and does not obtain answers to charges of graft and outright thievery.

Gen. Anastasio Somoza, head of Nicaragua since 1937, is not looked upon with favor by certain citizens of the land who see nothing funny in the practice of remaining in the presidential seat forever. Gen. Somoza, of course, points out that he is only fulfilling the desires of the people.

MAYBE he is a "benevolent dictator," but President Somoza has contributed anything but peace in the troubled Central American area. His violation of nonaggression principles in preparations for an invasion of Costa Rica and his personal quarrel with President Jose Figueres Ferrer are two cases.

On the other hand, he has been dubbed "the most loyal friend of the United States in all of Latin America." This because he is not averse to utilizing United States capital for economic expansion of the nation.

The strongly nationalist opposition, chiefly the Conservative party, does not view with good grace the influx of United States money and technicians.

However, the strangest thing of all is that the rabid attackers

Plan Relocation Along Highway 40

COLUMBUS (AP)—Nearly 22 miles of U. S. 40 between Kinkersville and Brownsville in southern Licking County will be relocated by late 1958 at an estimated cost of 22 million dollars.

This has been announced by L. F. Schaublin, first assistant director of the state highway department. The new section will be four-lane with limited access.

Principal objections to the project will be overcome by the state agreeing to keep the present section of U. S. 40 in the state highway system, Schaublin said.

of President Somoza's pro-United States policies insist that a United States commission should be appointed to supervise the next election in Nicaragua.

WITH ONE abortive attempt after another against the regime of strong-man Fulgencio Batista, the delightful vacationland of Cuba is not a very attractive place. The tourist may find himself in the thick of flying bullets.

And this situation is the criterion for far too many trouble spots on Latin America. Prospects for the future can be forecast as frequent violent outbreaks, with reins of government changing hands, and the man in the street chronically taking the short end as he always has.

Holden Wanted To Taste Real Thing, So He Broke Barrier

By HAL McCURE
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—William Holden is carrying around one of the biggest lumps of curiosity in Hollywood.

This has hurtled him through the air, across land and sea and into faraway lands. It is largely responsible for his latest episode—smashing the sound barrier in a jet plane.

If he isn't the first movie personality to break the barrier, he's the first to talk about it.

"Why did I do it? Just curious, I suppose," he says.

The idea came to him after he had completed a picture about the development and testing of the rocket plane, the Bell X2, called "Toward the Unknown."

"I wondered how it would feel so I arranged a flight with the air force," he said.

Holden, a former administrative officer with the ear corps in World War II, underwent a flight physical prior to the hop, even "flying" to 40,000 feet in an oxygen chamber.

The actual flight took place in a two-seater TF86 sabre jet over California's Mojave Desert. The Air Force assigned Brig. Gen. J. Stanley Holton, commandant of Edwards Air Force Base, Edwards, Calif., to fly Holden.

"I expected it would be a little more dramatic," he said.

"First we climbed to about 44,000 feet, then dove toward earth, picking up speed. It's real weird up there when you are racing ahead of the sound of the plane. It's so unrealistically quiet."

"I'd seen that English movie on crashing the sound barrier and I was all set for something big. There was only a slight buffeting as we went through the barrier. No big thing."

Boss Kettering Is Turning 80

DETROIT (AP)—Charles F. ("Boss") Kettering, one-time school teacher, telephone trouble shooter and installer, inventor and the auto industry's No. 1 engineer-scientist, will celebrate his 80th birthday anniversary on Aug. 29.

Some 1,500 of his friends and associates will help celebrate the milestone of the man who probably has contributed more to automobile's development than any other individual.

Kettering's friends will mark the event with a luncheon at the NCR Country Club, Dayton, Ohio. The affair is sponsored by a civic committee.

Kettering's associates say that while, technically, he retired in 1947 from the post of General Motors vice president in charge of research, actually he will not retire until "the last mystery of the universe has been solved."

For himself Kettering says of his "retirement," that he "would not want to fool around with that sort of thing." So he goes on centering his interest on all things scientific and progressive.

"We are not at the end of our progress," he says, "but at the beginning. It is man's destiny to ponder on the riddle of existence and, as a by-product of his wonderment, to create a new life on this earth."

"Science," says Kettering, "is merely finding out how nature does things."

Noted for his sharp whitticisms, Kettering some times has embarrassed his associates by comments on their conclusions. To one who once told him a certain design of piston would not work, he commented:

"How do you know it won't work? Were you ever a piston?"

He occasionally embarrasses them, too, with his ability to simplify some of the most complex scientific problems.

The world's motorists have Kettering to thank for many fundamental engineering advances.

Among them are the refinement of the automatic starter; the improved ignition systems; development of ethyl gasoline; the fact a passenger vehicle can be lacerated in one hour instead of painted in 37 days as was the practice in earlier days and many other basic improvements.

But there are other things besides automotive research that have benefited from the Kettering efforts. In 1925 he founded the C. F. Kettering Foundation for the study of chlorophyll and photosynthesis at Antioch College. As Kettering described this project it was to determine "why grass is green." But it contributed much information concerning the structure of the chlorophyll molecule and the mechanism of photosynthesis.

Another Kettering project was the fever therapy research project at the Miami Valley Hospital, Dayton. It brought forth the Kettering hypertherm, used in fever therapy work by many leading hospitals.

Another major project sharing Kettering's interest is the Sloan Kettering Institute for cancer research, established in 1945 jointly with Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., retired board chairman of General Motors Corp.

"My contribution to this," Kettering said, "has been to supply some of the general types of techniques long employed in industrial scientific research. All this must be done through the medical profession. Mr. Sloan and I, over the years, have worked on many apparently hopeless industrial problems which today seem simple. I am inclined to think we can apply some of our time-tired techniques to this age-old problem."

Kettering has been the recipient of scores of degrees, medals and awards. More than 30 degrees name him Doctor of Science; Doctor of Engineering; Doctor of Laws, of Humane Letters and of Humanities.

The citations include such tributes as "one whose life and work will be honored for all time as exemplifying the college-trained man at his noblest and best;" recognizing his "many outstanding contributions to the welfare of the nation by his advancement of science, invention and the American patent system," and the "highest distinction in the engineering profession."

Kettering was born on a farm near Loudonville, Ohio. At 19 he was teacher of 30 children in a one-room country school at Bunker Hill, Ohio.

His early college education was interrupted twice by eye trouble, but he was graduated from Ohio State University in 1904 with a degree in electrical engineering. He began his early career with the National Cash Register Co.

In 1909 he founded the Dayton Engineering Laboratories Co., which later became a division of General Motors. Kettering's hundreds of contributions to the automotive industry began about this time. His friends say they still are coming from the keen mind of one of the industry's most beloved individuals.

It once was suggested to Kettering that his "retirement" merely took him off the General Motors payroll. Kettering replied that for many years he had not seen a paycheck. The late Mrs. Kettering, he said, used to get it and deposit it in the bank. After her death the corporation made the deposits.

The paycheck ran into six figures annually. But it probably bothered Kettering not at all. He owned upward of half a million shares of General Motors stock.

Steel Bothered By Unexpected Rise in Costs

CLEVELAND (AP)—Unexpected sharp increases in production costs are causing a pinch in steelmaking profits, "Steel" magazine said today.

Soaring prices of steelmaking scrap and the possibility of higher transportation costs through all-rail shipment of iron ore this winter will not be offset by the recent $8.50 a ton increase in steel prices which was designed to take care of higher wages in the industry, the magazine said.

"The situation," said the publication, "may either reduce steel industry earnings or possibly force a further readjustment in steel prices."

Scrap prices, already higher than ever before, are likely to stay high, the trade weekly said. The magazine's price composite on scrap for the week ended Aug. 22 was $58.17 a gross ton, a rise of $1.50 over the level of the preceding week and 28 per cent higher than the year's low of $45.50, which came during the height of the recent steel strike.

"Steel" said iron ore could be in short supply before the great lakes ore carriers sail next spring, requiring a heavy dependence on scrap for the manufacture of steel.

"The pinch on iron ore comes from the strike against some of the Great Lakes ore fleet," the magazine said. "The boats have to deliver enough ore in the summer to last through the winter or else ore must come via rail, at higher cost. An early winter would hasten the predicament."

The magazine said the increases in prices of other metalworking products may be more moderate than was expected in view of higher steel prices. A recent survey by the magazine showed that prices in the metalworking industries are rising, but the adjustment will average about 8 per cent. Fierce competition is expected to hold down the increases.

"Auto company prices, for example, in contrast with a steel price increase of 6.5 per cent and increases in some components averaging close to 7.5 per cent, are not expected to go up any more than 3 per cent on even luxury models," the trade publication said.

Steel ingot production last week reached 95.5 per cent of rated capacity, the same rate that prevailed during the week ended June 25, just before the steel strike. That was a jump of 8.5 points over the previous week's output.

"Steel's" composite price on finished steel stood at $137.59 a net ton, unchanged from the previous week.

Family Reunion Is Held Sunday At Center Church

Descendants of John and Margaret Brakefield, making up a large group attended the annual family reunion held on Sunday at the Center Methodist Church.

Members of the family enjoyed the delicious basket dinner under the shade of a large oak tree on the lawn, and the invocation preceding the meal was given by Mrs. Carl Hart.

During the afternoon, a business meeting was conducted in the church by the president, Mrs. Will Winttingham.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was led by the president with Master Danny Le Sheeley as flag-bearer and prayer by Mrs. Ortha Dawson was followed with a welcome address given by Mrs. Winttingham.

The secretary's report was given and three relatives reported as being ill will receive greeting cards.

Short talks were made by three sisters, Mrs. Eva Coppess of Dayton, Mrs. Lillian Hargrave of Jamestown and Mrs. Lena Warner, of this city.

Election of officers resulted in Mrs. Winttingham being chosen to serve as president for the coming year; Mrs. Kenneth Craig, vice president; Mrs. Oscar Brickel, secretary - treasurer and Mrs. Mary Sheeley, chaplain.

Plans were made for the 1957 reunion to be held at the Center Methodist Church on the last Sunday in August.

Mrs. Lillian Hargrave accompanied at the piano for the singing of three hymns and the meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

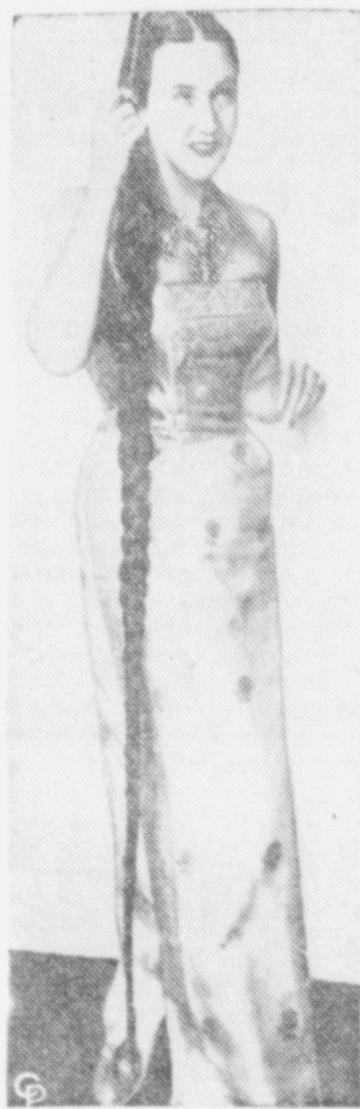

Members of the family enjoying the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. Ortha Dawson, of South Solon; Mrs. Eva Coppess of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Brickel, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Little, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Toland, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hargrave of Jamestown; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rearden, Miss Dorothy Rearden, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Dawson and sons of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Will Winttingham of Troy, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harper, and daughter of Galloway, Mrs. Mary Lynch Sheeley of Urbana, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Sheeley and sons of Sabina, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hart of Fairborn, Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Lynch of New Carlisle, Ruth Robin Lynch, Louise Lee Lynch and Rance Albert Lynch of Pass Christian, Mississippi, Mrs. Kenneth Craig, son Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Warner of this city.

Guests included were Carl A. Hart and Mrs. Zella Thompson of the Center community.

British Level New Charges At Archbishop

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Britain's new indictment of exiled Archbishop Makarios as an active leader of Cyprus terrorism was termed "an unfortunate and inappropriate act" today by a Greek Cypriot newspaper.

British Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd charged that Makarios, spiritual leader of the 400,000 Greek Cypriots, was "the personal director" of the 16-month bombs-and-bullets uprising and was "actually involved in the choice of individual victims for murder."

In Nicosia, the Greek-language weekly Alithia — Truth—replied that the charges "can only further complicate the situation."

It said the Cyprus problem can be solved "only by forgetting the past and through sincerity and goodwill from both sides."

"If this move is meant to lower the archbishop's prestige," said the newspaper, "it is an unwise and vain attempt."

Lennox-Boyd distributed translations of documents he said were captured a week ago in Cyprus. He told a news conference in London they proved beyond doubt that EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground fighting to unite this Mediterranean island with Greece, took its orders from Makarios.

A total of 145 persons, about one-third of them Britons, have been killed in the EOKA campaign.

The archbishop, who has been negotiating with the British for Cypriot independence, was deported to the Seychelle Islands in the Indian Ocean last March for refusing to denounce the violence.

2 Picknickers Hurt Seriously In Landslide

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—One of the landslides that plague the Pacific Palisades suddenly broke loose Sunday, tumbling four picnickers down from a 175-foot-high bluff and dumping tons of earth on the coast highway.

Two of the women suffered broken backs.

One car was caught in the onrush of dirt, but its two occupants escaped. They said the avalanche "sounded like a waterfall."

Marcel Gentillon, Santa Monica assistant director of public works, estimated 15,000 to 20,000 tons of rocks and dirt gave way in the slide. The coast highway, which parallels the ocean, was covered for about 150 feet with dirt 15 feet deep.

The four picnickers, one of whom was covered almost up to her neck, were taken to Santa Monica Emergency Hospital. Several youths came up from the beach to

Family Reunion Is Held Sunday At Center Church

Descendants of John and Margaret Brakefield, making up a large group attended the annual family reunion held on Sunday at the Center Methodist Church.

Members of the family enjoyed the delicious basket dinner under the shade of a large oak tree on the lawn, and the invocation preceding the meal was given by Mrs. Carl Hart.

During the afternoon, a business meeting was conducted in the church by the president, Mrs. Will Winttingham.

The Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag was led by the president with Master Danny Le Sheeley as flag-bearer and prayer by Mrs. Ortha Dawson was followed with a welcome address given by Mrs. Winttingham.

The secretary's report was given and three relatives reported as being ill will receive greeting cards.

Short talks were made by three sisters, Mrs. Eva Coppess of Dayton, Mrs. Lillian Hargrave of Jamestown and Mrs. Lena Warner, of this city.

Election of officers resulted in Mrs. Winttingham being chosen to serve as president for the coming year; Mrs. Kenneth Craig, vice president; Mrs. Oscar Brickel, secretary - treasurer and Mrs. Mary Sheeley, chaplain.

Plans were made for the 1957 reunion to be held at the Center Methodist Church on the last Sunday in August.

Mrs. Lillian Hargrave accompanied at the piano for the singing of three hymns and the meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Members of the family enjoying the reunion were: Mr. and Mrs. Ortha Dawson, of South Solon; Mrs. Eva Coppess of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Brickel, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Little, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Toland, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hargrave of Jamestown; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rearden, Miss Dorothy Rearden, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Dawson and sons of Springfield; Mr. and Mrs. Will Winttingham of Troy, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harper, and daughter of Galloway, Mrs. Mary Lynch Sheeley of Urbana, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Sheeley and sons of Sabina, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hart of Fairborn, Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Lynch of New Carlisle, Ruth Robin Lynch, Louise Lee Lynch and Rance Albert Lynch of Pass Christian, Mississippi, Mrs. Kenneth Craig, son Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Warner of this city.

Guests included were Carl Aehart and Mrs. Zella Thompson of the Center community.

British Level New Charges At Archbishop

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Britain's new indictment of exiled Archbishop Makarios as an active leader of Cyprus terrorism was termed "an unfortunate and inappropriate act" today by a Greek Cypriot newspaper.

British Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd charged that Makarios, spiritual leader of the 400,000 Greek Cypriots, was "the personal director" of the 16-month bombs-and-bullets uprising and was "actually involved in the choice of individual victims for murder."

In Nicosia, the Greek-language weekly Alithia — Truth—replied that the charges "can only further complicate the situation."

It said the Cyprus problem can be solved "only by forgetting the past and through sincerity and goodwill from both sides."

"If this move is meant to lower the archbishop's prestige," said the newspaper, "it is an unwise and vain attempt."

Lennox-Boyd distributed translations of documents he said were captured a week ago in Cyprus. He told a news conference in London they proved beyond doubt that EOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground fighting to unite this Mediterranean island with Greece, took its orders from Makarios.

A total of 145 persons, about one-third of them Britons, have been killed in the EOKA campaign.

The archbishop, who has been negotiating with the British for Cypriot independence, was deported to the Seychelle Islands in the Indian Ocean last March for refusing to denounce the violence.

2 Picnickers Hurt Seriously In Landslide

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—One of the landslides that plague the Pacific Palisades suddenly broke loose Sunday, tumbling four picnicking women down from a 175-foot-high bluff and dumping tons of earth on the coast highway.

Two of the women suffered broken backs.

One car was caught in the onrush of dirt, but its two occupants escaped. They said the avalanche "sounded like a waterfall."

Marcel Gentillon, Santa Monica assistant director of public works, estimated 15,000 to 20,000 tons of rocks and dirt gave way in the slide. The coast highway, which parallels the ocean, was covered for about 150 feet with dirt 15 feet deep.

The four picnickers, one of whom was covered almost up to her neck, were taken to Santa Monica Emergency Hospital. Several youths came up from the beach to X-ray pictures taken at the hospital disclosed Mrs. Lucille Glenn, 48, and Mrs. Maude Hankerson, 62, both had broken backs. Their companions, Mrs. Jane Baughman, 72, and Mrs. Norah Hayward, 63, were bruised and scratched.

Timken Unionists Ratify Contract

CANTON (AP)—A three year contract between Timken Roller Bearing Co. and the United Steelworkers was ratified by union members over the weekend.

It covers 10,000 employees at plants here and in Columbus, Zanesville, Wooster and Mount Vernon.

The union reported only a scattered and slight dissenting vote at membership meetings on ratification.

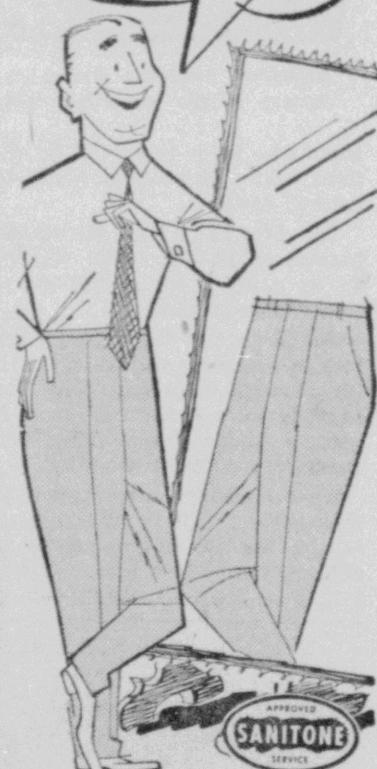

The pact provides 21-cent raises on hourly base rates the company said averaged $2.137 and also provides for fringe benefits and a modified union shop.

Buhl's Jinx Over Brooklyn Keeps Braves' Margin

Yesterday's Triumph Was His Seventh Over Dodgers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sometime last winter or last spring, Bob Buhl added something to his pitching habits. Maybe it was better control. Whatever it was, it may mean a long-sought pennant for Milwaukee.

The 28-year-old right-hander never had won more than 14 games in any of his three seasons in the majors, and in eight decisions against Brooklyn he won only three in the three years. Now he has 16 successes this season—and seven of them have been over the world champion Dodgers.

Buhl nailed the Dodgers for the seventh time without defeat Sunday, hoisting the Braves in a three-game National League lead over the Dodgers. It also gave Milwaukee a 4½-game spread over third place Cincinnati which defeated Philadelphia 10-5, then lost 11-4 for a split.

Fourth place St. Louis and New York also split, the Cards breaking the Giants' winning streak at five games 4-3, then losing their own five-game streak by the same score. Pittsburgh took two from the Chicago Cubs as Bob Friend won his 15th with a four-hitter 2-0, then came back for 1 1/3 innings of hitless relief to save a 2-1 nightcap decision.

In the American, Tom Sturdivant gave Detroit just six hits and the Tigers chipped in with five errors as the New York Yankees won 7-0, but the Bengals took the nightcap 5-4. The split left the Yankees with a 7½-game lead over Cleveland, which defeated Washington 4-1 on Early Wynn's 15th-victory four-hitter. The Chicago White Sox divided with Baltimore, losing 8-1 and winning 5-1. Boston split with Kansas City, losing 7-6 in 10 innings after winning 2-1.

Buhl, who gave seven hits and six walks but didn't lose his shut-out until Sandy Amoros slugged a pinch two-run homer in the ninth, was backed up by Hank Aaron's 20th homer and Johnny Logan's 12th. Roger Craig lost it for a 12-9 record.

Buhl, who has bagged two-thirds of Milwaukee's 11 victories over the Dodgers in 19 games this season, figures to meet the Dodgers once more.

Freeman Signs With St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Robin Freeman, Ohio State's Big Ten scoring champ, has signed with the St. Louis Hawks professional basketball team.

There was some doubt he would ever play for pay after he lost two fingers on his left hand while chopping wood earlier this year.

The 5-foot-11 guard averaged 32.9 points a game at Ohio State last year.

Cowboys Win To Tie Flashes For Top Spot

The unexpected did happen in the Little League as Saturday night's two games threw the top four teams into two ties, for first and third places.

The Med-O-Pure Cowboys, playing their best ball this season, beat the Record-Herald Flashes, 5-2, with a three-run rally in the top of the sixth.

The Flashes never were ahead as Sam Evans tipped the scales to the Cowboys side in first inning with a two-run homer.

The Cowboys threatened in the fifth with two runs to tie it up and then the Cowboys squashed them with the three-run rally.

It was close pitching all the way as only seven hits were collected by both teams during the whole game.

These two teams will play off for first place in a game this Thursday at 7:30.

Baseball Champs of 1936 Get Together

Levy's Clothiers Hold Reunion Here Sunday

Twenty years ago, just about this time of year, 13 young men wrapped up the city baseball championship of what was known as the Twilight League. They played under the banner of Levy's Clothiers.

Sunday, all 13 of them gathered at the Fairground for a reunion. It was a fine day—so fine that they agreed to get together every two years from now on, the last Sunday in August.

With them were their families; that was different, for 20 years ago they had neither wives nor children.

They were older and more mature, but they had lost none of their enthusiasm for baseball through the years. And, they didn't look, or act, like it had been 20 years since they were the baseball champions of Washington C. H.

In those days, they played at Wilson Field where today the Little League youngsters play in a much more solidly organized form of the sport. Many of those champions of 1936 now have boys of their own Little League age—and they say they like baseball as much as did their dads.

THERE WAS a basket dinner under the grandstand at noon and, after the talk of old times finally had covered the team's exploits and the boys-now-men had gotten caught up on what each other had been doing since those days, the sons and dads had a little impromptu baseball game of their own. No score was kept, but the dads said their boys beat them.

Frank E. Ellis, the manager of Levy's Clothing Store, was the headman of the team and Carl Noon, a barber and a former semi-pro player was the manager. Both were at the reunion.

Members of the team, and the number of their children at the reunion, were: Leonard (Tarzan) Palmer with two children, of Elida; Ray Forbes, one, of Marion; Martin Wike, two, Chillicothe; Ted Warner, three, Albin Ave.; Russ Warner, two, West Carrollton; Bob Grim, two, Waynesville; Howard Mann, two, E. Market St.; Max (Red) Wilson, two, Oakland Ave.; Elwin Aldridge, of Dayton; Ray Warner, four, Route 6, and Dick Witherspoon, one, Yeoman St.

Guests at the reunion, along with the wives and children of all the "oldtimers," were Mrs. Albert Warner, mother of the three Warner brothers, and Mrs. Arthur Grim, mother of Bob Grim.

Rocky Colavito Impresses in Cleveland Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—The odds are so long that the Cleveland Indians will finish anywhere but second in the American League that interest in the 33 remaining Tribe games now centers largely in two questions:

Can rookie outfielder Rocky Colavito continue his impressive slugging of the past month?

Will any of the Indian hurlers make the 20-victory circle?

In Sunday's 4-1 victory over the Washington Nationals, Colavito slammed his 16th home run and Early Wynn hurled a four-hitter to move within the 20 games win range at 15-7.

Rocky has blasted 11 of his 16 homers since July 23 in 113 official times up for that distance. That's just about the same pace Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees has been setting over a much longer haul. Mickey has 44 homers in 448 times up—or about one in 10.

All of Cleveland's runs off Dean Stone were driven home by Colavito who batted in the clean-up spot. He doubled home Wynn, who had singled, and Al Rosen, who walked, to put the Tribe ahead 2-1 in the third inning. Then he homered after Rosen's single in the eighth.

The triumph gained the Indians a half game on the Yankees, who split with Detroit. New York now holds a five-game advantage in the loss column. The Tribe could pick up another half game here tonight where the only contest in the American League is being played.

Stock Car Honors Won by Huddleston

Pete Huddleston of London won the 50-lap mid-season championship of the stock car racers Saturday night at the Washington C. H. Speedway west of the city.

He was followed in by five Washington C. H. drivers and one from Jeffersonville. They were B. H. Knisley, Floyd Duncan, E. Vance, T. Nole and Harry Haines and Ray Huff.

Fastest time of the evening was turned in by Ed Parks of Xenia with Harry Arnold's "Special." He burned the track in 18:41.

The trophy was won by Chuck Brown of Hillsboro.

The races were marked by an unusual number of spills, including those by John Ackley, B. Bozeman, C. Nole and John Ackley. Ackley was shaken up a bit and Nole got a black eye.

The trophies were presented by Hidy's Service Station and the Phillips Garage.

Summary of the races:

Trophy race—Brown, Huddleston and Ed Parks.

First elimination—O. Butcher, F. Duncan and Huff.

Second elimination—Vance, Bozeman and Knisley.

Third elimination—Norman Self, C. Brown and Huddleston.

Consolation—Bob Fall, S. New man, Self, Huff, Huddleston and Knisley.

Bloomington Wins From Frozen Foods

The Bloomington Babe Ruth team beat the Girtton's Frozen Foods team 10-9 in an eight-inning game Saturday night.

Bloomington, which had been trailing for the most of six innings, suddenly opened big holes in the Girtton defense in the seventh inning, scoring six runs to go ahead 9-8.

The Girttons snagged one in their half of the seventh to tie it up.

Frozen Foods pitcher Jim Irons enched up his belt and went into the eighth, but Bloomington nailed him for one and that was enough to make the win.

Twin Bill Displays Shaky Condition of Redleg Hurling

CINCINNATI (AP)—The shaky pitching situation of Cincinnati's Redlegs this season has seldom shown to less advantage than in Sunday's two encounters with Philadelphia.

Seven members of Birdie Tebbetts' pitching staff tried their hand in the two games and gave up a total of 26 hits, including two homers.

One bright spot was Art Fowler's relief stint, taking over in the third inning of the opener and holding Philadelphia scoreless until the ninth while the Reds carved out a 10-5 victory.

But a succession of four Redleg hurlers, including 16-game winner Brooks Lawrence and ace reliever Hershel Freeman couldn't halt the Phillies' 11-4 triumph in the windup game.

Buhl's Jinx Over Brooklyn Keeps Braves' Margin

Yesterday's Triumph Was His Seventh Over Dodgers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Sometime last winter or last spring, Bob Buhl added something to his pitching habits. Maybe it was better control. Whatever it was, it may mean a long-sought pennant for Milwaukee.

The 28-year-old right-hander never had won more than 14 games in any of his three seasons in the majors, and in eight decisions against Brooklyn he won only three in the three years. Now he has 16 successes this season—and seven of them have been over the world champion Dodgers.

Buhl nailed the Dodgers for the seventh time without defeat Sunday, hoisting the Braves into a three-game National League lead over the Dodgers. It also gave Milwaukee a 4½-game spread over third place Cincinnati which defeated Philadelphia 10-5, then lost 11-4 for a split.

Fourth place St. Louis and New York also split. The Cards breaking the Giants' winning streak at five games 4-3, then losing their own five-game streak by the same score. Pittsburgh took two from the Chicago Cubs as Bob Friend won his 15th with a four-hitter 2-0, then came back for 1-3 innings of hitless relief to save a 2-1 nightcap decision.

In the American, Tom Sturdivant gave Detroit just six hits and the Tigers chipped in with five errors as the New York Yankees won 7-0, but the Bengals took the nightcap 5-4. The split left the Yankees with a 7½-game lead over Cleveland, which defeated Washington 4-1 on Early Wynn's 15th-victory four-hitter. The Chicago White Sox divided with Baltimore, losing 8-1 and winning 5-1. Boston split with Kansas City, losing 7-6 in 10 innings after winning 2-1.

Buhl, who gave seven hits and six walks but didn't lose his shut-out until Sandy Amoros slugged a pinch two-run homer in the ninth, was backed up by Hank Aaron's 20th homer and Johnny Logan's 12th. Roger Craig lost it for a 12-9 record.

Buhl, who has bagged two-thirds of Milwaukee's 11 victories over the Dodgers in 19 games this season, figures to meet the Dodgers once more.

Freeman Signs With St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Robin Freeman, Ohio State's Big Ten scoring champ, has signed with the St. Louis Hawks professional basketball team.

There was some doubt he would ever play for pay after he lost two fingers on his left hand while chopping wood earlier this year. The 5-foot-11 guard averaged 32.9 points a game at Ohio State last year.

Cowboys Win To Tie Flashes For Top Spot

The unexpected did happen in the Little League as Saturday night's two games threw the top four teams into two ties, for first and third places.

The Med-O-Pure Cowboys, playing their best ball this season, beat the Record-Herald Flashes, 5-2, with a three-run rally in the top of the sixth.

The Flashes never were ahead as Sam Evans tipped the scales to the Cowboys side in first inning with a two-run homer.

The Cowboys threatened in the fifth with two runs to tie it up and then the Cowboys squashed them with the three-run rally.

It was close pitching all the way as only seven hits were collected by both teams during the whole game.

These two teams will play off for first place in a game this Thursday at 7:30.

ANOTHER 5-2 game brought the Sunshine Cubs into a tie for third with the Coca-Cola Jets, as the Jets dropped to Mac Dews Realtors.

A big second inning for the Realtors turned the trick which will send the Jets into a play-off with the Cubs. Three runs gave the Realtors a margin which proved unbeatable for the Jets.

Realtors pitcher Ronnie Warner held the heavy-hitting Jets to three hits.

Jeffersonville Wins From Blanchester

Jeffersonville continued to play unbeatable ball in the Southwest Ohio League, as they beat Blanchester at Jeffersonville 12-4. It was Jeff's 12th victory of the season.

Jeffersonville's pitcher, Bucky Dumford, did a lot for his own cause, getting two triples. His team, getting two triples, hit a double.

Blanchester made a stand in the ninth inning but it was too late and they only scored twice.

Ohio Teams Out Of Colt Series

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Moarion, Ohio, was eliminated from the National Colt League World Series here Sunday when defeated by Austin, Tex., 16-2.

Massillon, Ohio, was eliminated from the tourney Saturday when it suffered a 6-5 loss at the hands of the Marion team.

Baseball Champs of 1936 Get Together

Levy's Clothiers Hold Reunion Here Sunday

Twenty years ago, just about this time of year, 13 young men wrapped up the city baseball championship of what was known as the Twilight League. They played under the banner of Levy's Clothiers.

Sunday, all 13 of them gathered at the Fairground for a reunion. It was a fine day—so fine that they agreed to get together every two years, from now on, the last Sunday in August.

With them were their families; that was different, for 20 years ago they had neither wives nor children.

They were older and more mature, but they had lost none of their enthusiasm for baseball through the years. And, they didn't look, or act, like it had been 20 years since they were the baseball champions of Washington C. H.

In those days, they played at Wilson Field where today the Little League youngsters play in a much more solidly organized form of the sport. Many of those champions of 1936 now have boys of their own Little League age—and they say they like baseball as much as did their dads.

THERE was a basket dinner under the grandstand at noon and, after the talk of old times finally had covered the team's exploits and the boys-now-men had gotten caught up on what each other had been doing since those days, the sons and dads had a little impromptu baseball game of their own. No score was kept, but the dads said their boys beat them.

Frank E. Ellis, the manager of Levy's Clothing Store, was the headman of the team and Carl Noon, a barber and a former semi-pro player was the manager. Both were at the reunion.

Members of the team, and the number of their children at the reunion, were: Leonard (Tarzan) Palmer with two children, of Elida; Ray Forbes, one, of Marion; Martin Wickle, two, of Chillicothe; Ted Warner, three, of Albion Ave.; Russ Warner, two; West Carrollton; Bob Grim, two, of Waynesville; Howard Mann, two, of Market St.; Max (Red) Wilson, two, of Oakland Ave.; Elwin Aldridge, of Dayton; Ray Warner, four, of Route 6; and Dick Witherspoon, one, of Yeoman St.

Guests at the reunion, along with the wives and children of all the "oldtimers," were Mrs. Albert Warner, mother of the three Warner brothers, and Mrs. Arthur Grim, mother of Bob Grim.

The triumph gained the Indians a half game on the Yankees, who split with Detroit. New York now holds a five-game advantage in the loss column. The Tribe could pick up another half game here tonight where the only contest in the American League is being played.

Twin Bill Displays Shaky Condition of Redleg Hurling

CINCINNATI (AP)—The shaky run in the ninth inning on Stan Lopata's 28th home run of the season—his first of two round-trip hits for the day.

The second game started as the first with the Phillies jumping to a 2-run advantage. Only there the similarity stopped.

The Philadelphia ran up four runs before the Redlegs could score. And they fended off Cincinnati's efforts to take the lead until the ninth inning when a six-run Phillie eruption put it out of reach.

The Redlegs got started scoring with three runs in the third inning, but Lopata's homer in the fifth kept Philadelphia two runs ahead.

Rookie Robinson had a part in all four Redleg runs, doubling home the first two and scoring the third on Kluszewski's single.

He singled in the eighth and came home on Klu's double.

The Phils had high carnival with Freeman and Joe Black in their big ninth, battering a triple, two doubles and four singles.

The split set Cincinnati 4½ games behind the National League leading Milwaukee Braves and 1½ games back of second-place Brooklyn.

This is a day of rest for the Redlegs who return to action Tuesday night in a night game with New York's Giants. Joe Nuxhall, who faced six batters starting Sunday's opener, is slated to oppose Johnny Antonelli.

Babe Slips Some In Cancer Battle

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Doctors reported famed woman athlete Babe Zaharias has lost some ground in her fight against cancer, but her husband, George, said that "we are all hoping that she will survive and come out of it okay."

Her doctor issued a brief statement at noon Sunday which said that Babe had "lost some ground . . . because of difficulty in taking nourishment."

He said, however, "she is feeling better and is cheerful and alert this morning. She remains free from pain."

Father Dies But Lad Carries On

SOMERSET, Mass. (AP)—Allen Golz, 12, carried out his father's instructions Sunday.

He led his team to the town Little League championship, striking out five and collecting three hits in a 13-3 victory.

Allen's father died Sunday morning. He had told his son to carry out his baseball assignment.

One of the problems that Congress will have to face when it gets back to bedlam on the Potomac is the twin bill to admit Hawaii and Alaska as States of the Union. With one hot and the other cold, this would keep the mean temperature at a status quo... give or take a few degrees for the intensity of the upcoming elections. The big difference between the two territories is that when an Alaskan shakes it's from the cold when a Hawaiian shakes it's a tourist attraction!

Apart from the fact that pineapples keep better on ice, there are plenty of reasons why it would be a sound move to make Alaska and Hawaii states. Most important it would prove we're willing to give the full rights of democracy to our own people.

Bea Mar Farms dispersal sale attracted a large crowd including many from out of state. The bidding was lively and prices more good and I'm glad to state many of the top animals stayed in Fayette and surrounding counties.

Conventions are all over and we can now watch our regular TV programs. I'm glad the weather was cool to offset the heat generated by the speakers.

After listening to some of the convention oratory, a local political observer says he's not only interested in what a candidate stands for... but also what he won't stand for!

Kidnaper Getting More Questioning

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—Police resumed grilling Angelo John LaMarca today in hope of solving the mystery of what happened to little Peter Weinberger in the last hours of his life.

Authorities say LaMarca has now confessed kidnaping the 32-day-old baby from his Westbury, N.Y. home last July 4 and abandoning him in a roadside honeysuckle patch.

LaMarca, a swarthy 31-year-old cab driver, was arrested

The new position is a distinct advancement in his work in the financial world. He plans to move to Chillicothe some time in December.

In the meantime he will continue as a member of the Washington C. H. Council.

During his 15 years in Washington C. H. he has been affiliated with various civic movements as well as serving on city council and leaves a very large circle of friends.

His successor as manager of the loan company has not been announced.

Warm, Humid Air Invading Ohio Valley

It's a little late, but we're going to have summer after all.

After a series of cool, dry days, the Gulf of Mexico is sending a surge of moisture-laden tropical air into the Ohio Valley which probably will stay with us for nearly a week. Scattered thunder-shower activity can be expected daily through Saturday, becoming more general throughout the state about Thursday.

Most Midwestern areas had showers or thunderstorms Sunday afternoon and night, and the hot muggy air pattern is pushing eastward toward the mid-Ohio Valley.

Elsewhere, widely scattered and generally light rainfalls were reported.

Higher temperatures resulted in the eastern portion of the nation from the mass of northward moving Gulf air. The mercury also took a jump in the central and northern plains.

The temperature in Milwaukee rose from 66 to 72 in one hour early today. Temperatures elsewhere showed a slight, moderate cooling.

Erlal Earl Dove Services Tuesday

Erlal Earl Dove, 68, Route 1, lifelong resident of Fayette County, died Saturday at the Hurles Nursing Home where he had been a patient for the past year.

For years he was employed as a farm laborer.

Surviving are three sisters and two brothers: Mrs. Grace Cornell, Route 1, Mrs. Opal Cornell, Mansfield; Mrs. Bess Brannan, Chillicothe; Joe and Otis Dove, Route 1. There are several nieces and nephews.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the Walker and Anderson Funeral Home, Greenfield. Burial will be in White Oak Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Fayette County Hogs Bring High Prices

A 200-pound Hampshire barrow from Fayette County brought a record high price of $1 a pound at the barrow sale Saturday at the Ohio State Fair.

It was one of four entered in the Fair by Andrews and Baughn and took, not only the championship of the Hampshire barrow show Saturday, but also the reserve championship over all other breeds at the open barrow show Saturday night.

The Andrews and Baughn farm is on the Lewis Pike.

The Andrews and Baughn Hampshires took three first prizes in addition to the championship and reserve championship—first in the lightweight division, first in the heavyweight division and first for the pen of three—a clean sweep of the classes in which they were entered.

When the champion Hampshire and reserve champion of the open show went on the auction block after the shows, it was bought by Washington C. H. for the record top of $1 a pound.

Another Fayette County breeder, Gene Gustin, took third place in the lightweight division of the Hampshire barrow show and was second over all breeds in the Junior Fair show with his entry.

The spotlight was turned on still another Fayette County breeder Saturday when the grand championship ribbon was tied on the pen of three lightweight Chester Whites entered by Paul Shepard of the Waterloo Pike. They brought 45 cents a pound when sold at auction after the show.

Shepard also has four gilts and four young male hogs at the Fair, but they are to be entered in the show of breeding stock for the breed Tuesday.

Miss Gretchen Myers, 16, of near Sabina got 30 cents a pound for her champion 4-H barrow.

American Radiator Strike Is Ended

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—A 2-month strike against the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Corp. ended today when the vanguard of 1,800 workers went back to their jobs.

Officials of the United Steelworkers of America here said the men voted approval Sunday of a 3-year contract providing increases of 13 cents an hour this year and 7 cents next year and in 1958.

Previous wage scales were not disclosed.

The plant had been idle since July 1 when the old contract expired and the strike began.

Teacher Get Acquainted Day Program Mapped for Thursday

Plans for the city's second Teacher Get Acquainted Day, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and the Washington C. H. Board of Education, were being completed Monday.

The all-day program, scheduled for Thursday, is in charge of Walter Rettig, chairman of the C. of C. education committee. It will include a general assembly session in the high school auditorium at 9:05 a. m. and a bus tour of the city's industries and utilities with a noon-hour break for luncheon at the Hotel Washington. The group will be dismissed at the high school at 3:30 p. m.

Twenty teachers will take part in the tour with transportation furnished by the city board of education which is supplying a school bus. Invitations were extended to those teachers who were unable to participate last year, along with 10 new teachers in the city system.

The assembly program at the auditorium will include three-to-five minute talks by Tom H. Mark,

WCH Man Is Named On GOP Committee

Richard R. Willis, chairman of the Fayette County Republican Executive Committee, was chosen as a member of the presidential electors committee for the state GOP convention at the district Republican meeting held Saturday afternoon in the courthouse at Hillsboro.

He and James T. Perrill, the vice chairman of the party's Central Committee, represented Fayette County at the meeting.

District delegates for four other key committees for the state GOP convention also were chosen at Saturday's meeting. They were: Credentials, W. D. Games of West Union; permanent organization, William Amer of Circleville; rules and order of business, Robert Wood of Circleville and resolutions, A. L. Daniels.

Josef Clark, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, presided at the meeting.

Counties in the sixth congressional district are Fayette, Pickaway, Ross, Adams, Pike, Scioto, Brown, Clermont and Highland.

The state convention is to be held in the Palace Theater in Columbus on Sept. 12.

Hold Memorial Services for Reds' Victim

WAKUNI, Japan (AP)—Memorial services were held Sunday for Electronics Technician I. C. Albert P. Mattin of Delta, O., a crew member of the U. S. Navy patrol bomber hit by gunfire and downed off Red China's coast Thursday.

His body was the only one recovered from the wreckage found 100 miles southeast of Shanghai. The Navy listed the other 15 crew members aboard the P4M Mercator as missing.

Mrs. Mattin, who is expecting another child later this year, attended the services. She has three young sons.

Mattin's body was sent to Atsugi Naval Air Station near Tokyo to be sent to Ohio. Mrs. Mattin plans to leave for home possibly Tuesday.

In a news conference Sunday, Mrs. Mattin said she was "proud" of her husband. "He was doing what he wanted to do," she said. "His loss is so great that I cannot talk of it, but I have no regrets for the wonderful life we had."

She said her children had heard of their father's death and are "a bit timid" about flying home. But she added she herself is not afraid to fly "and I expect we will go home by plane."

Union Contract Is Agreed Upon for Western Electric

NEW YORK (AP)—Western Electric Co. announced today agreement on a new one-year contract covering 18,000 telephone equipment installers throughout the nation.

A company spokesman said the new pact provides for a general wage increase of 8 to 12 cents an hour plus fringe benefits.

Pay has ranged from $1.38 to $2.36 an hour.

Other provisions of the contract include: Additional holidays in some regions, bringing most of the company's installers to seven holidays a year; two additional wage boosts through reclassification of some regions into higher-paid regions; and a slight narrowing of the gap between the top automatic progressive wage rate and the top merit wage rate.

Weekend Finds State Fair's Attendance Records Soaring

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Prospects of a highly successful Ohio State Fair remained bright today after heavy weekend crowds sent attendance marks soaring.

The big exposition continues through Friday. Good weather, cool and bright, greeted fair visitors for the fourth consecutive day.

Fair Manager Sam Cashman said the first three days of the fair will equal the first four last year in paid admissions. Paid attendance for Friday and Saturday was 25,000 ahead of the first two days last year.

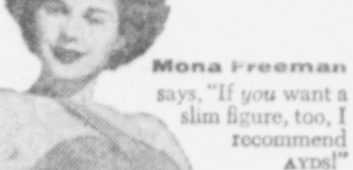

Sunday's attendance was estimated unofficially at 150,000 and Cashman said, "It is bound to be the best day, financially, the fair has ever known." Friday's official attendance was 161,919, with 23,919 paid admissions. Saturday's official count was 107,275, of which 67,776 were paid admissions.

Saturday night's auction of prize market hogs and fat lambs set record prices. The grand champion barrow, a 200-pound Hampshire shown by Andrews and Baughn of Bloomingburg, went for $1 a pound to Washington Court House producers.

In the market wether class, the grand champion fat lamb, a South-down raised by 23-year-old Mrs. Elaine Leighty of Rt. 3, Upper Sandusky, went to the Seneca Hotel of Columbus at $1.50 a pound. Mrs. Leighty also showed the grand champion wether pen, and her husband, Franklin, won the reserve championship for wether pens.

Kidnaper Getting More Questioning

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—Police resumed grilling Angelo John LaMarca today in hope of solving the mystery of what happened to little Peter Weinberger in the last hours of his life.

Authorities say LaMarca has now confessed kidnaping the 32-day-old baby from his Westbury, N.Y., home last July 4 and abandoning him in a roadside honeysuckle patch.

LaMarca, a swarthy 31-year-old cab driver, was arrested

Thursday. The infant's decomposed body was found the next day.

Police said LaMarca told them he took the baby to Brooklyn after the kidnaping and left him overnight with a friend.

LaMarca has remained tight-lipped about what happened between the time he seized the baby and then abandoned him.

The prisoner has refused to name any "friend" who might have been involved in the kidnaping.

A psychiatrist examined LaMarca Saturday. Police said the doctor reported that LaMarca was "apparently sane at the time of the kidnaping."

LaMarca is charged with kidnaping, which could bring the death penalty under New York state law.

ORANIENBURG, East Germany (AP)—Western correspondents saw a silver MIG19, Russia's secret jet fighter, zip past at supersonic speed at an air show Sunday—the first hint the new plane may be in service at Soviet forward bases in Germany.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A tremendous gusher spouting oil 150 feet into the air and flooding nearby fields today marked the discovery of what apparently is a rich new oil field south of Tehran.

The state-owned National Iranian Oil Co., called in British and American experts to help control the well throwing 80,000 barrels of oil a day into the air.

ISTANBUL (AP)—Floods sweeping a large area between north and southeastern Turkey took at least 81 lives during the weekend. In addition, 40 men were missing and presumed drowned.

TOKYO (AP)—Another typhoon—Charlotte this time—roared this afternoon in the Pacific Ocean 450 miles southeast of Okinawa. With winds of up to 85 m.p.h. The U. S. Air Force said the typhoon's present course would take it south of Okinawa.

BERLIN (AP)—Communist Poland's official news agency PAP confirmed today that a serious coal mine disaster occurred at Chorzow, Poland, but said reports that 29 had died were wrong.

The first report of the disaster was brought to Berlin Sunday by travelers arriving from Poland. They said an unknown number of miners had been trapped and probably killed by a raging fire which broke out in a Chorzow mine Saturday.

Stoughtons Leaving Wednesday for Legion Convention

Mr. and Mrs. William Stoughton will leave at noon Wednesday by plane for Los Angeles where Stoughton will represent the Seventh American Legion District as a delegate to the national Legion convention Sept. 2-6. Stoughton is Seventh District commander.

William Marshall, past commander of Paul Hughes Post, and Mrs. Marshall left for Los Angeles by automobile a month ago. Marshall is also a delegate from the Seventh District.

Stoughton announced Monday the appointment of three Washington C. H. men to his district staff. Marshall was named Fayette County commander, representing the two city posts and the post at Jeffersonville. Attorney Charles Hire was appointed judge advocate of the district, and Eugene Ladrach district conservation chairman.

Olin R. Moon Dies At Home in Sabina

Olin R. Moon, 69, died suddenly in his home in Sabina at 2:15 Saturday, following a six-month illness.

Mr. Moon was an embalmer and then a funeral director at the Littleton Funeral Home in Sabina for 41 years.

A member of the Sabina Methodist Church and the Eastern Star, Mr. Moon was also a past Master of the Sabina Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. May E. Langdon Moon; two sons, Ralph of Marion, Ill., and John of Stonewall, Miss.; a brother, W. P. Moon of Wilmington and a sister, Mrs. Ruth Goetting of Marion.

The Rev. John Selvey of Gahanna, assisted by the Rev. Charles Kirsch of Sabina, will conduct services in the Littleton Funeral Home at 2 p. m. Tuesday. Friends may call any time.

The Masonic Lodge of Sabina will hold a Masonic ritual at the burial in Sabina Cemetery.

Purpose of the Teacher Get Acquainted Day program is to help school personnel, familiarize themselves with the city and its economic background, particularly as reflected through its industries. This better understanding of community life and problems has proved a distinct aid in teaching.

Rescue Boy Scout On Mt. Rainier; Lost for Week

SEATTLE (AP)—Snatched from almost certain death after a week in a mountain wilderness, plucky Richard Mizuhata rested in a hospital today and his main concern was catching up on the meals and the comics he missed in his lonely wanderings.

Doctors said Richard, 13-year-old Japanese-American Boy Scout, was showing an "amazing comeback" from his seven days and six nights with little food or water on the slopes of Mt. Rainier.

The boy wandered away from a group of Scouts who were hiking down a trail in the rugged Carbon river section of Mt. Rainier National Park.

Weak from hunger and almost helpless, he was found Saturday by Paul Uno, 36, a Seattle mail carrier and one of a small army of volunteers who answered the call of park rangers for assistance.

Weekend Finds State Fair's Attendance Records Soaring

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Prospects of a highly successful Ohio State Fair remained bright today after heavy weekend crowds sent attendance marks soaring.

The big exposition continues through Friday. Good weather, cool and bright, greeted fair visitors for the fourth consecutive day.

Fair Manager Sam Cashman said the first three days of the fair will equal the first four last year in paid admissions. Paid attendance for Friday and Saturday was 25,000 ahead of the first two days last year.

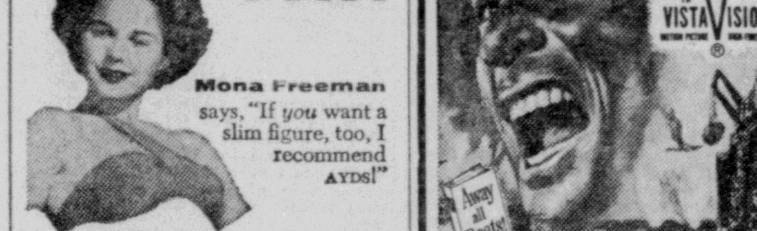

Sunday's attendance was estimated unofficially at 150,000 and Cashman said, "It is bound to be the best day, financially, the fair has ever known." Friday's official attendance was 101,919, with 23,919 paid admissions. Saturday's official count was 107,275, of which 67,776 were paid admissions.

Saturday night's auction of prize market hogs and fat lambs set record prices. The grand champion barrow, a 200-pound Hampshire owned by Robert Blauser of Vandalia, went for $2 a pound to David Davies Packing Co. of Columbus.

The reserve champion barrow, a 200-pound Hampshire shown by Andrews and Baughn of Bloomingburg, went for $1 a pound to Washington Court House producers.

In the market wether class, the grand champion fat lamb, a South-down raised by 23-year-old Mrs. Elaine Leighty of Rt. 3, Upper Sandusky, went to the Seneca Hotel of Columbus at $1.50 a pound. Mrs. Leighty also showed the grand champion wether pen, and her husband, Franklin, won the reserve championship for wether pens.

DRIVE CAREFULLY and be SURE!

It's your neck, so why tell YOU to take care of it when you get behind the wheel of a car? Careful driving pays its own dividends. But unfortunately you can't be sure of always avoiding an accident. When you do get involved in an accident you want to be sure no one is going to pin a big claim on you for damage. That's where we come in. Have we written your insurance?
